H. H. THE NIZAM'S STATE RAILWAY,
ADVERTISING AT RAILWAY STATIONS

THE PROPRIETOR of the Bombay Gazette Press, having leased from the NIZAM'S STATE RAILWAY Company the exclusive right of advertising at all the Railway Stations belonging to the Company, is prepared to contract with parties desirous of posting notices or advertisements on the lines.
The Cantonment of SECUNDRABAD, as is well known, contains the largest military garrison in India—a garrison comprising over 5,000 British and native troops. Contiguous to it is the Cantonment of BOLARUM, garrisoned by two regiments and one battery of the Hydrabad Contingent, all officered by Europeans. South of Secunderabad, about 4 miles are the suburbs of Hydrabad, containing the Nizam's regular troops, about 5,000 in number, officered mostly by Europeans—besides a large civil population. It would manifestly be advantageous to firms to advertise at the stations on the above railway, the most important of which are SECUNDRABAD, HYDRABAD, GANGAWARUM, and TANDUR.
The announcements may be in English or in any of the NATIVE LANGUAGES.
INSURANCE COMPANIES, SHIPPING COMPANIES, HOTELKEEPERS, MERCHANTS, TRADERS and others who wish to force their business on the notice of the public, all alike value the privilege of Railway tation Advertising.
There is no reason why the privilege should not be also specially valuable to Advertisers in Indian Looking to the great and increasing number of Native Railway Passengers on the two trunk lines on Western India, Native Merchants, Traders, &c seeing that they have the privilege of advertising in their own language, would find the publication of their announcements at Railway Stations an infallible means of extending their business.
Advertisers can select the Stations at which they wish their Placards posted, and may advertise for any period that may be agreed on. The charges have been fixed on an extremely moderate scale to encourage Advertisers to make a liberal use of the new means now offered of making announcements known to the public.
Placards, according to the taste of Advertisers may be printed at moderate charge in ENGLISH or any of the NATIVE LANGUAGES at the Bombay Gazette Press. Estimates on application.

RATES.

Board not exceeding 2 feet long and 2 feet broad Rs. 1 per month. For every additional square foot annas 2.
Thus a firm exhibiting a board, say 4 square feet will have the advantage of having their business advertisement read by thousands of Passengers on one station platform for the trifling monthly expenditure of Rs. 1. Parties advertising on six stations or more will be allowed a discount of ten per cent.; twelve Stations or more, twenty-five per cent.
The boards to be delivered at the Bombay Gazette Office, whence they will be sent by the Lessee to the various stations selected by the Advertiser. In the event of the contract terminating, the boards will be brought back to Bombay at the expense and risk of the Advertiser.
Special arrangements for long periods.
For further particulars apply to the Manager of the "Bombay Gazette" Office, Esplanade Road, Fort.

NEW PIANOFORTES ### WITH TRANSPOSING APPARATUS.

THIS Apparatus is a most useful improvement recently introduced in a most perfect form. By a simple arrangement the Pitch can be lowered or raised a semi-tone, a tone, or several tones. In this manner Soprano or Tenor songs can be instantaneously transposed, so as to render the Accompaniment adaptable to Contralto, Baritone or Bass voices; this advantage will be at once seen by all Singers.
MESSRS. MARCKS & Co., LD., have just received a beautiful Stock of these Pianos, manufactured especially to stand the Indian Climate with Solid Iron Frames, and they can confidently recommend them to stand the severest tests, as better Pianos have never before come to India, and invite an early Inspection.

SKIN DISEASES
Are of two kinds: firstly, those which are only skin deep (which are not now to be considered); secondly, those which are caused by a bad state of the blood, and which attack various parts of the body in different ways. Skin diseases shows itself in the HEAD, sometimes in the form of Dandruff which no amount of brushing and combing will get rid of, and sometimes in the form of scaly Eruptions. In the NECK, by an enlargement of the glands (commonly called Glandular Swellings), which if unchecked become very unsightly wounds. In the ARMPITS, and the inside of the ELBOWS, by an inflamed Roughness of the Skin, which is very painful when washed. In the HANDS, by deep Cracks or Fissures which, if healed for a few days, speedily open again, or by horny-looking patches. In the LEGS, by Hard, Shiny and Inflamed Swellings, or by wounds more or less deep. And on the BODY, in Red Scaly Patches which as often as rubbed off, form again or in the discharge of a thin, watery fluid of a very disagreeable nature. In all these cases the treatment must be twofold. An Ointment is required to relieve Itching and Medicine must be taken to change the state of the blood, and render it pure.
Both these requirements are supplied by
Dr. Roberts' Celebrated Medicines,
the OINTMENT called
"THE POOR MAN'S FRIEND,"
And
ALTERATIVE PILLS,
Called "PILULÆ ANTISCROFULÆ."
These Two Medicines have now stood the test of 100 years' trial, having been introduced to the public in the latter part of the last century.
They may be obtained of all Chemists, or of the Proprietors,

ADVERTISING
RAILWAY STATIONS.
THE Proprietor of the "BOMBAY GAZETTE" Press, having leased from the
G. I. P. RAILWAY COMPANY,
The NIZAM STATE RAILWAY,
AND
The BHOWNAGAR-GONDAL RAILWAY COMPANY
the exclusive right of advertising at all the Railway Stations belonging to these Companies, is prepared to contract with parties desirous of posting Notices or Advertisement, on the lines.
The announcements may be in English or in any of the Native Languages.
The advantages which Railway Stations present as a means of bringing intimations of all kind before the public have been demonstrated in England by the extensive use which is made by Advertisers, of every station, great and small, along every one in the United Kingdom.
INSURANCE COMPANIES, SHIPPING COMPANIES, HOTELKEEPERS, MERCHANTS, TRADERS and others who wish to force their business on the notice of the public, all alike value the privilege of Railway Station Advertising.
And as nearly ALL TRAVELLERS ARRIVING IN INDIA NOW LAND AT BOMBAY and proceed by Rail, Placards exhibited at the different stations are every day becoming more and more valuable as means of bringing the Advertisers' business to the notice of the public.
On the NIZAM STATE RAILWAY the Cantonment of Secunderabad, as is well known, contains the largest military garrison in India, a garrison comprising over 5,000 British and native troops Contiguous to it is the Cantonment of Bolaram garrisoned by two Regiments and one Battery of the Hyderabad Contingent, all officered by Europeans. South of Secunderabad, about four miles, are the suburbs of Hyderabad containing the Nizam's Regular Troops, about 5,000 in number, officered mostly by Europeans, besides a large civil population. It would manifestly be a source of profit to firms to advertise at these Stations, the most important of which are Secunderabad, Hyderabad, Gangawaram and Tandur.
Orders for exhibiting Advertisement Boards on the B. B. and C. I. Railway Stations will also be received at this Office.

RATES.
Boards not exceeding 2 feet long and 2 feet broad Re. 1 per month. For every additional square foot annas 2.
Thus a firm exhibiting a board, say 4 feet square, will have the advantage of having their Business Advertisement read by thousands of passengers on one station platform for the trifling monthly expenditure of Re. 1. Parties advertising on six stations or more will be allowed a discount of ten per cent.; on twelve stations or more twenty-five per cent.
Special arrangements for long periods.
The boards to be delivered at the "BOMBAY GAZETTE" OFFICE, whence they will be sent by the Lessee to the various stations selected by the Advertiser. In the event of the contract terminating, the boards will be brought back to Bombay at the expense and risk of the Advertiser.
Advertisers can select the stations, on the four lines at which they wish their Placards posted, and may advertise for any period that may be agreed on. The charges have been fixed on an extremely moderate scale to encourage Advertisers to make a liberal use of the new means now offered of making announcements known to the public.
Placards, according to the taste of Advertisers may be printed at moderate charges in English or any of the Native languages at the "BOMBAY GAZETTE" Press. Estimates on application.
For further particulars apply to THE MANAGER, "BOMBAY GAZETTE" OFFICE, Rampar Row, Fort.

During the month of January 113 bullocks, 33 horses, and 15 dogs were admitted, and during the same month 78 bullocks, 19 horses, and 7 dogs were discharged from the hospital. 3 cases among horses and 5 cases among dogs proved fatal during the past month.

THEFT AT THE WALKESHWAR FAIR.—Rama Gaioco of no fixed place of residence, was yesterday charged by Inspector Roberts before Mr. P. Ryan with stealing a gold neck ornament valued at Rs. 50 from a child, the daughter of a woman named Tuckoo, whilst at the Walkeshwar fair on Thursday. It appeared that the complainant went to Walkeshwar on Thursday along with her brother and her daughter. The latter being a child she carried her in her arms, when the accused, who was amongst the crowd, suddenly snatched the neck ornament from the child and was running away with it, when the mother raised an alarm. Her brother ran after the accused, seized him, and handed him over to the police, who found the ornament in his possession. The accused on pleading guilty to the charge was sentenced to four months' rigorous imprisonment.

STEALING ORNAMENTS FROM CHILDREN.—At the Fort Police Court yesterday Inspector McCubbin charged Maroti Gungaram before Mr. Hamilton with stealing gold neck ornaments valued at Rs. 130, the property of Lalla Bagwan, a Hindoo. It appeared that the complainant took two of his children to the Kennedy Sea Face on Thursday evening, where he had gone to perform some religious ceremony owing to it being a great Hindoo festival day. While he was engaged in the ceremony the prisoner enticed the children away and took them to a garden in the neighbourhood, where he commenced stripping them of their ornaments. Fortunately for the children, a Mahomedan, who was close by, promptly interfered and gave the accused in charge of a sepoy. Pleading guilty to the charge, the prisoner was sentenced to two months' rigorous imprisonment.

A CAR CONDUCTOR CHARGED WITH DISHONESTY.—Mr. Cooper yesterday heard a case in which Mr. A. W. Waller, a European pensioner, prosecuted Ramchunder Mahadoo, a tramway conductor, for misappropriating a currency note. It seemed that on the 5th ult. Mr. Waller entered a car at Grant Buildings, intending to go to Grant Road. He handed the conductor a currency note for Rs. 10, the accused saying he would give back the change at the next starting point. At Bori Bunder he changed into a through car to Grant Road, forgetting to ask the conductor for his change. When he arrived at his destination, Mr. Waller remembered that he had not got his money back. On his return to the Fort he reported the matter to Mr. Crisp, who made inquiries and discovered that the accused had been in charge of the car, by which the prosecutor had travelled that day. In defence the accused denied having received the note, saying that if he had been given one he must have returned the change. Owing to the absence of a necessary witness, the case was adjourned for a fortnight.

ATTEMPTED OUTBREAK FROM DAMAUN JAIL.—An attempt to escape from the Damaun Jail by several prisoners is reported to have been made on the 15th February. There were twelve prisoners, some of them undergoing long terms of imprisonment and others who were sentenced to transportation, these were located on the ground floor of the jail and on the night of the 15th February the sentinel on watch heard a noise which he discovered was proceeding from some prisoners who were digging a hole in the wall. He raised an alarm, but the prisoners, perceiving that their attempt to escape was discovered, rushed at once to the door, against which they directed all their strength to burst open and they eventually succeeded in doing so. They rushed out and ran in different directions. In the meantime the cry for help had brought together the other sentries off duty, and they began to fire to force back the prisoners to their cells. A scuffle ensued, in which one of the guard was severely hurt. As the prisoners seemed to have the best of the fight, the soldiers fired upon them and shot two dead. The prisoners rushed out in every direction to escape, but fortunately the main gate was closed and after all none escaped, as by that time a reinforcement arrived and surrounded the jail, thus cutting off every chance of escape from the jail.

HERODOTUS ON THE ANCIENT PERSIANS.—Mr. Pallonjee Burjorjee Desai, author of a History of the Sassanians, has published in a pamphlet of nearly one hundred pages (or rather it has been published at his own expense by Mr. J. B. Karani, book-seller) his prize essay on Herodotus account of the ancient Persians. The book gives a translation of all the chapters written by Herodotus regarding the manners, customs, usages, and religion of the ancient Persians, with original notes and a commentary, based on the sacred books of the Parsees, which throw light in some points and refutes on other points the views and opinions of Herodotus, and shows how he has fallen into error in certain matters, &c. The second part of the essay shows how advanced the ancient Persians were in morality and domestic virtues. In the opinion of those fitted to judge, Mr. Desai has acquitted himself creditably in a comprehensive treatment of the subject of the prize essay, which will be found useful to all Zoroastrians.

CERCLE LITTERAIRE BIBLIOTHEQUE DINSHAW PETIT.

THE second annual general meeting of the members of the Cercle Litteraire Bibliotheque Dinshaw Petit was held at the Cercle rooms on Thursday last, the 28th February. The proceedings were entirely conducted in French. Professor O. S. Pedraza having been requested to take the chair, the honorary secretary of the Cercle, Mr. J. E. Davar, read the notice convening the meeting as also the Committee's report for the past year, which is as follows :—

The Committee of the Cercle Litteraire Bibliotheque Dinshaw Petit have the honour of laying before the members their report for the past year. Copies of the accounts for the past year and of the lists of members have been already distributed amongst the members, who must have seen that the Cercle is in a flourishing state both as regards its finances and the increasing number of its members. On the day when the first annual general meeting was held there were 101 members in all. This number during the year has increased by 152, of which 2 members are patrons, 9 honorary members, 33 life members, and 108 ordinary members. This in itself is an undisputed proof of the success which the promoters of the Cercle have achieved in their endeavours towards the propagation of the study of the French language and its literature. In conformity with article 21 of the rules of the Cercle the Committee—elected by the general body of members at the last annual general meeting—nominated Mr. O. S. Pedraza, Mr. Muncherjee Framjee, and Mr. J. E. Davar, president, treasurer, and honorary secretary of the Cercle respectively. During the year under report four vacancies in the Committee having occurred by the resignation of Mr. H. Moit, and the departure from Bombay of Messrs. J. K. Kabrajee, C.S., E.C. Monod, and M. Durand, the Committee nominated Messrs. B. N. Dadyburjor, P.Dupont, C. M. Cursetjee, and Gustave Rat in their place. Mr. Muncherjee Framji having tendered his resignation as the treasurer, Mr. B. N. Dadyburjor was nominated treasurer in his stead, and Mr. Ardeshir J. Cursetji, honorary librarian, in place of Mr. J. K. Kabrajee. Mr. Edward Gusselin having been nominated Consul for France at Bombay, your Committee elected him a patron of the Cercle, which office he has been pleased to accept. During the past year Mr. Emile Senart, of the Institute of France, visited the Cercle ; the Committee had the honour of electing him an honorary member of the Cercle. To the list of honorary members were also added the names of Mr. M. E. Topait (Paris) and Mr. Leon Bornart (Paris) for the valuable assistance they have continued to give to the Cercle, and the keen interest they have been taking in the welfare of the institution. During the past year the Cercle received many presents of journals and of books. The Committee cannot pass over in silence the names of Mr. Y. Vernin (Paris), Mr. Leon Bornart (Paris), Mr. Joseph Venis (Leipsig), Mr. H. Paul (Paris), Mr. O. S. Pedraza, Mr. Elie Funcheur, Mr. P. Dupont, and Dr. Cowasjee Pestonjee, who send as presents to the Cercle, La revue des deux mondes, l'illustration, les annales, le temps, la revue des traductions populaires, l'expansion coloniale, la revue nouvelle, ut la semaine medicale respectively. The best thanks of the Cercle are due to them, as also to Mr. James Darmesteter (Paris), Mr. M. E. Topart (Paris), Mr. A. J. Lisaniere (Bordeaux), Mr. W. F. Sinclair, C. S., Mr. G. B. Read, C. S., Mr O. S. Pedraza, Dr. K. R. Vicajee, Mr. Gustave Rat, and Mr. A. Simeon for presents of books to the Dinshaw Petit. Library. The Committee take this opportunity to offer their warm thanks to the following gentlemen for their donations :—

Mr. Nesserwanjee Manockjee Petit, Rs. 500 ; Mr. Hormusjee Nesserwanjee Vakeel, Rs. 100 ; Mr. Emile Senart (Paris), Rs. 50 ; Mr. Charles Bordes (Mahi), Rs. 25 ; Mr. H. Zivelfel, Rs. 10. Your Committee have to record with deep regret, the death of Mr. Jamsetjee Nesserwanjee Petit, one of the life members of the Cercle, which took place on 18th March 1888. Mr. Nesserwanjee Manockjee Petit, father of the deceased gentleman, in order to perpetuate the name of his late son, has given the above donation of Rs. 500, the interest of which the Committee are authorised to spend for the purchase of books in the name of the late Mr. Jamsetjee.

The Committee during the year have revised the bye-laws of the Cercle. The alterations suggested therein by them were adopted at an extraordinary general meeting of the members held on 1st August 1888 under the presidentship of the honourable Mr. Justice Scott. The Committee have also framed a rule for the election as members d'occasion, distinguished gentlemen who took an interest in our institution and who during their temporary stay in Bombay would like to make use of the library. During the past year there were 13 meetings of members for readings in French when some dramas of Victor Hugo and some comedies of Moliere were read. Our president, Mr. Pedraza, also read a paper on the writings of Victor Hugo. From the accounts of the Cercle you must have seen that Rs. 3,300 have been spent in all for the purchase of books for the Dinshaw Petit library, which, though small as it is, contains a good collection of works of the principal French writers, a library of which the Cercle may justly be proud.

The following resolutions were then unanimously carried:—That the Committee's report for the past year be received and adopted. That Messrs. J. E. Sachtatvala and Mr. E. R. Sahiar be requested to scrutinize the voting papers for the nomination of the new Committee. That the audited accounts of the past year be passed. That the thanks of the Circle be voted to Mr. Ardeshir E. Davar for having examined the Cercle's accounts for the past year, and that the same gentleman be nominated auditor of the Cercle's accounts for the current year. That the thanks of the Cercle be voted to the retiring Committee for the satisfactory manner in which they performed their functions during the past year.

The Hon. Secretary of the Cercle then read a letter received from Mr. Nesserwanjee Manockjee Petit handing as the administrator of his late son, Mr. Jamsetjee, a Port Trust Bond for Rs. 500, being the donation promised to the Cercle by his late son during his lifetime, the amount to be placed to the credit of an account to be opened in the Cercle's rooms as "the Jamsetjee Nesserwanjee Petit Endowment Fund," the interest whereof to be used for the purchase of books, the original sum to remain intact.

A vote of thanks was then accorded to the president for his able conduct in the chair. The president in returning his thanks referred to the satisfactory progress the Cercle had made during the last year both as regards its finances and the increase of its members. He said the Cercle commanded a capital library, which, he was glad to find, was widely made use of by all members. He regretted that the Cercle had been deprived of the very valuable services of one of the Committee, Mr. M. Durand, who left Bombay a few months back, and referred at length to the splendid readings and recitations in French this gentleman used to give at the meetings of the members. The proceedings then terminated.

THE SWADESHI MILLS.

THE directors of the Swadeshi mills company have issued their report for the half year ended 31st December last, which will be presented at a general meeting to be held at the offices of the company, Victoria Buildings, Parsee Bazaar street, on Thursday next. In that report the directors are glad to state that the result of the operations of the mill for the period under report is satisfactory. The net profit, inclusive of the gain on the sale of the land at Chinchpogly, amounted to Rs. 32,149-1-2. Deducting the debit balance on 30th June last of Rs. 7,441-6-11, there stood to the credit of profit and loss account on 31st December the sum of Rs. 24,707-10-3, which it has been resolved to carry forward. The renovated spinning-room engine is working satisfactorily ; and as a result, there is, since the commencement of the current year, a sensible increase in the outturn which is likely to improve when the new card-room engine which is now in course of erection is set to work. Some of the new machinery for the blow-room has come to hand, and some more is expected. Twenty-four ring frames with 7,000 spindles are being worked at present, and the remaining twenty-six will be ready for work during the course of the next 12 or 14 weeks. A new finishing press and two improved sizing machines have also been placed in position. Some additional preparatory machinery to meet the requirements of the Ring frames has lately been ordered ; also more Dropbox looms for weaving fancy cloth which is proving remunerative. The cost of the new machinery, inclusive of a portion of the engines, received at the mill during the last half year, amounted to Rs. 155,658 ; while the further net outlay on repairs, alterations and improvements to the old machinery, was Rs. 51,687 ; The total outlay on machinery since the commencement is Rs. 3,64,996 ; but the directors believe it will eventually reach from 5½ to 6 lakhs by the time that every thing is overhauled and has come to hand. The additional outlay on building works during the half year was Rs. 21,676-4-7, which, with the amount expended since the commencement, comes to Rs. 75,290, and before the entire improvements and alterations contemplated are effected, a further expenditure of about Rs. 50,000 will have to be incurred. Thus the entire charge on building works, when finished, would come to about a lakh and a quarter. Already a large portion of the floor of the Throstle-room and a part of the card-room have been paved with stones. The new Blow-room has been almost wholly reconstructed. Existing godowns have been altered and rearranged. New concrete buildings have been constructed ; the extensive boundary of the mill has been all round enclosed by a high wall. The large mill compound and its roads, which were in a delapidated state, are being repaired and put into thorough good order and condition, and a drainage scheme is also taken on hand with a view to carrying away large quantities of storm water which gather during the rains and saturate the ground on which the mill stands more or less impeding the smooth working of the machinery, especially in the Blow-room. The surface of the water tank has been cleared of some of its rocky obstructions, and further work in connexion with it has yet to be completed. At the date of the purchase of the Mill there were 47,127 mule and 46,632 throstle spindles and 1,298 looms. Of these 20,108 mule and 23,592 throstle spindles and 200 looms were condemned as unserviceable, and had to be disposed of for what they were worth. There are now at work 25,536 mule and 19,920 throstle spindles and 500 looms, and there will be 1,480 more mule and 3,120 throstle spindles and 500 looms available for further work for which there is on hand sufficient preparatory machinery beyond what little may have yet to be ordered. Thus, according to present computation the directors believe that your mill property when equipped as above, with 50,056 mule and throstle spindles, 15,272 ring spindles and 1,100 looms, will be fully worth 19 lakhs. The directors are glad to be able to state that the difficulties in connexion with the supply of labour have been nearly overcome.

HIGH COURT.—APPELLATE SIDE.

(Before the Hon. Mr. Justice JARDINE and Mr. Justice CANDY.)

KILLING A CREDITOR.

IMPERATRIX vs. MOTIJI RATIAJI.

THIS was an appeal from a decision of Mr. H. F. Aston, Sessions Judge of Ahmedabad, who in January last convicted the accused of culpable homicide not amounting to murder and sentenced him to transportation for life.

The accused was a Grassia resident of Nawapura, and the offence charged against him was that on the 5th October last he committed murder by causing the death of a Brahmin money-lender named Bhugwan Hargovan, by striking him on the back of his neck with a long heavy stick with sufficient force to break the axis bone. The case for the prosecution was that on the 5th October last the deceased went with some companions to Nawapura, where he had a shop, and had certain debtors, including the accused. He had already on a previous occasion pressed the accused as far as bringing a bailiff to attach his moveable property. The same day the deceased's companions returned to their own village without him, as he did not rejoin them. The deceased was not again seen alive. When uneasiness at his absence led at length to a report being made to the police, the search was taken up by the police on the 9th October last. That evening news was brought from the mukhi of the adjacent village, and a visit was made to a well situated between the two villages, and in this well there was a corpse, which was not then interfered with, because of the hour and the stench. Next morning the corpse was fully identified as that of the deceased, and was sent to the Sanand hospital. The accused afterwards made a statement which included a reference to a lota, which the deceased had with him, and to a pole and stick which were found in the accused's house. In consequence of the accused saying where the lota was a party was sent to the place indicated, the very well in which the corpse had been found, and there the lota was found in the water. The accused was sent with a party to his house, and thence he produced the pole and stick which were lying against the wall. He then conducted the police to a spot where in the jowari of the accused there were indications which were just what would be expected if a corpse had been dragged there. The accused was sent on the afternoon of the 11th October to Sanand, where he made a full confession of the killing of deceased and disposal of the corpse. The case for the prosecution was that when the deceased was dunning the accused, his debtor, the accused, struck him on the back of his neck with a long stick produced in court. The jury, who assisted the Sessions Judge, held that the accused committed the murder, but that he did so when he was deprived of the power of self-control by grave and sudden provocation. The Sessions Judge, agreeing with the jury, convicted the accused of culpable homicide not amounting to murder and sentenced him to transportation for life.

Without entering the appeal, their Lordships ordered the case to be called for.

A STORY OF A DOUBLE ELOPEMENT.

IMPERATRIX vs. LILLADHUR OODHOWJEE.

THIS was an appeal from a decision of Mr. W. R. Hamilton, third Presidency Magistrate, who in December last convicted the accused of theft and sentenced him to two years' rigorous imprisonment and to pay a fine of Rs. 1,000, in default six months' further rigorous imprisonment. It appeared from the magistrate's finding, that the accused admitted his offence. He was a servant in the house of the prosecutrix and used to take charge of the young girls going to the temple. He appeared to have induced the adopted daughter of his mistress to consent to elope with another man named Girdhur, and with this intent the girl Manek gave him the key of the money-box, from which he took himself, or she took and handed to him, Rs. 2,000 in notes. In a day or two she put on valuable ornaments, and went in his company to the temple and from there to Girdhur's house. A rookla was brought, and the three persons took tickets to Poona. Girdhur got out at Tanna, but the accused and Manek continued their flight to Poona and on to Benares, where they lived together as man and wife and spent their money. They engaged a cook by name Hurjeevun, and went to Calcutta, where the latter seemed to have displaced Lilladhur in Manek's affections. There was a quarrel, and Hurjeevun and Manek went to Porebunder. The accused returned to Bombay, where he was arrested and made a confession, possibly with a motive to bring punishment upon Manek and Hurjeevun also. The enquiries at Porebunder had not resulted in the discovery of any ornaments, but apparently caused the dismissal of Manek, who returned to Bombay. Separate proceedings were to be taken against Girdhur and Hurjeevun ; but mean while the accused was convicted and sentenced as above.

The accused in his appeal stated that the first offender in this case was Girdhur, who was his master, and with whom Manek eloped. The sum of Rs. 2,000, which was sent by the hands of the accused, was given him for payment to Girdhur. Having taken Rs. 500, he got down at the Tanna station and went away. Manek's age was 18 or 19 years, and not 15, as she was tutored by her mother to say in court. Having taken the greatest part of the money and other property, he ran away from accused whilst they were at Calcutta. The person who took her away from Calcutta took from her all the goods, effects, and property at Porebunder and turned her out. Further, her mother herself used to send Manek to the house of Girdhur ; and the accused used simply to go as a servant to call her and to escort her.

Their Lordships ordered the appeal to be admitted.

CULPABLE HOMICIDE NOT AMOUNTING TO MURDER.

IMPERATRIX vs. DHULA HARI AND TWO OTHERS.

THIS was an appeal from a decision of Mr. H. F. Aston, Sessions Judge of Ahmedabad, who found the first accused guilty of culpable homicide not amounting to murder, and of theft after preparation for causing hurt, and sentenced him to an aggregate term of transportation for fourteen years, while the other two prisoners were convicted of the latter offence and sentenced to rigorous imprisonment for five years each.

It appeared that on the 7th October last, after midnight, the deceased Bechar was at his field, and Soma, a tenant of an adjacent field, was sleeping near him. Soma was roused by the deceased, who said there were thieves in his jowari. The two men went towards the jowari from different directions. After the deceased went towards the thieves in the jowari, a cry was heard from him. He was found bleeding from an injury to his head. Some of the jowari was cut and lying in two bundles near him. The injury was sufficient to fracture the deceased's skull, and he died the same afternoon from effusion of blood on the brain. There was clearly, in the opinion of the Sessions Judge, a theft after preparation, and when the thieves were interrupted, the deceased received a fatal injury. It was not a part of the case for the prosecution that the blow to the deceased was intentionally aimed at his head. The deceased was stated to have at once denounced the three accused, and to have accused the first prisoner as his assailant. Deceased also named the three accused to his mother when he walked home before he became unconscious. It appeared the first prisoner went to greater lengths than the two others and struck the deceased with a heavy stick when the thieves were interrupted, and the blow was given with force enough to fracture the skull. The Sessions Judge remarked that, if there were sufficient reason to hold that he intended to hit the deceased on the head, it would have become necessary to try the first accused for murder. All the three accused were found guilty and sentenced as mentioned above.

Their Lordships saw no reason to interfere with the convictions and sentences, and the appeal was dismissed.

HONGKONG AND SHANGHAI BANKING CORPORATION.

THE forty-seventh report of the Court of Directors of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation was given to the ordinary half-yearly general meeting of shareholders held at the City Hall, Hongkong, on Saturday, the 23rd February 1889. It is as follows :—

The directors have now to submit to you a general statement of the affair of the bank, and balance sheet for the half-year ending 31st December, 1888. The net profits for that period, including $10,441·36 balance brought forward from last account, after paying all charges, deducting interest paid and due, and making provision for bad and doubtful accounts, amount to $874,087·93, of which, after taking out remuneration to directors, there remains for appropriation $864,087·93. From this sum, the directors recommend the payment of a dividend of one pound and ten shillings per share which will absorb $400,000. The difference in exchange between 4-6, the rate at which the dividend is declared, and 3/0½, the rate of the day, amounts to $191,780·82. They recommend transferring $212,432·44 to the Credit of reserve fund, which with $87,567·56 being re-valuation of £150,000 3 per cent. Indian Government Sterling Loan, will then stand at $4,300,000. The balance of $59,874·67 to be carried to new profit and loss account.

Mr. W. H. Forbes has been appointed chairman for the year 1889, and Mr. H. L. Dalrymple deputy chairman.

The Honourable A. P. McEwen having resigned on leaving the colony, the directors have invited Mr. J. F. Holliday to join the board; his appointment requires confirmation at this meeting.

Mr. W. H. Forbes, Mr. H. L Dalrymple and Mr. J. S. Moses retire in rotation, and being eligible for re-election, offer themselves accordingly.

Mr. G. E. Noble was appointed chief manager on the 1st January, 1889, in place of Mr. T. Jackson, who takes over the management in London.

The accounts have been audited by the Honourable Phineas Ryrie, and Mr. Fullarton Henderson.

JOHN BELL-IRVING, Chairman.

THE STATUE OF ROUSSEAU.

THE inauguration of Jean Jacques Rousseau's statue took place at the Pantheon in Paris on Sunday, Feb. 3. The author of the "Contrat Social" is represented standing, with his walking cane under his arm. The statue is in bronze, measures nine feet ten inches, and is placed on a marble pedestal, bearing three inscriptions in gilt letters, on the front, "To Jean Jacques Rousseau, 21st June, 1712, 28th July 1778 ; on the right, "The statue of Jean Jacques Rousseau shall be erected on one of the public places. National Convention 15th Brumaire, year Two ; on the other side, "A statue bearing the following inscription shall be raised to the author of "Emile" and of the 'Contrat Social' : 'The free French nation to Jean Jacques Rousseau.' National Assembly, 30th December, 1791." In consequence of the inclement season the ceremony was held inside the Pantheon, where a platform had been erected for the official personages and the speakers. M. Jules Steeg, in the name of the subscribers, presented the statue to the Municipality of Paris. M. Darlot, President of the Town Council, officially received the donation. M. Jules Simon spoke in the name of the French Academy. He said :—

"Thanks to you, Jean Jacques Rousseau is now installed on the summit of Mount Ste Genevieve, where the Paris University and the Sorbonne formerly dominated. It is a well chosen spot for a man who broke through all traditions, and who, though he might have been a favourite, chose to be a rebel and a persecuted man. It has been said of Rousseau that he formed a new society and new men. As for me, who do not speak here either of the philosopher or of the Socialist, but only of the great writer, I will say whatever opinion one may adopt relative to the extent and the character of his influence, whether one agrees with the judgment of Diderot and Voltaire, or with that of the Parliament of Paris, which contented itself with burning his books, it is certain that he made a man which, according to himself, is the finest of work and that man was Jean Jacques Rousseau. The celebrated saying 'The style is the man' seems to have been made for him ; and that is so true that one cannot read a single page of Rousseau without remembering the whole of his book—' Confessions '—which depicts him with such truth and sincerity. I do not know to which Jean Jacques Rousseau you have raised this monument, whether it is to the author of 'Emile' or to the author of the 'Nouvelle Heloise,' or to that of the 'Contrat Social ;' but it is to the incomparable writer, to one of the masters of the French tongue, that the French Academy consecrates its."

THE Rev. A. Amiskhanians, translator of the New Testament, on behalf of the British and Foreign Bible Society, into Ararat-Armenian, is known as one of the most remarkable of living linguists, and illustrates the theory of hereditary genius. His father, Mirza Feroukh, was stolen at the age of six years by Persian robbers, and ultimately became Chief Secretary to the Persian Commander-in-Chief. The Basel missionaries, Drs. Pfander and Zaremba, and Mr. Diedrich, happening to cross his path, he renounced Mahomedan

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

FRIDAY EVENING, MARCH 1.

QUOTATIONS for the English and French funds and for Indian Securities in each currency have come unchanged to-day at Wednesday's rates. In Silver also no movement is reported, the price remaining at 42¾d. per oz. Hongkong Bank shares are quoted £1 lower, at £53 per share. The weekly returns of the Bank of England give the Reserve at 44 per cent. of the liabilities, which is a decrease of one per cent. since the previous week. The Bank rate remained at 3 per cent. and the market rates of discount were unaltered. The weekly shipments of Specie to Bombay are wired as £150,000 in Silver and £50,000 in Gold.

In general Produce, Linseed was quieter on the other side yesterday, and a decline of 3d. per quarter in Calcutta seed to arrive viâ the Canal and in Liverpool quality by both routes took place. Bombay seed is called 1s. 3d. per quarter lower to arrive, at 39s. per quarter; but the present price is for the new crop, the previous quotation having been for old seed. Rapeseed was dull at Wednesday's rates. Wheat was quiet and prices (which, like the last, are for the new crop) were 3d. per quarter lower to arrive, both for Hard Red and Club No. 2. Coffee was firmer, and both Mid. Plantation and Medium Mysore were 1s. per cwt. dearer.

The Liverpool Cotton Market closed steady last evening: Surats quiet. The day's sales aggregated 10,000 bales, inclusive of 400 Surats. The Imports were 37,000 bales. Spot prices were quite unchanged, but American Arrivals were 1-64d. higher in all positions. The Manchester Market was quiet at the last quotations.

In New York, Receipts at the ports coming light the spot price advanced 1-16 to 10 3-16 cents; the Future quotation, which is now for June, being 10 to 20 cents. The Receipts at the U. S. Ports now give the following comparison with the two preceding years:—

| | 1889. | 1888. | 1887. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Thursday's Receipts.. | 8,000 | 11,000 | 12,000 |
| Five days' do. ... | 63,000 | 51,000 | 65,000 |
| Since 1st Sept. 1888. | 4,868,000 | 4,877,000 | 4,829,000 |

We have had a quiet day for the staple here, the reported purchases not aggregating more than 2,000 bales of ready stuff; but prices have remained steady, and we repeat last evening's quotations for all descriptions. The principal purchases have been in Broach at Rs. 236 and Sheagaum at Rs. 198-202, the other lots taken having been Julgaum at Rs. 208, Nuggur, at Rs. 200, Jarsee at Rs. 196, and Bengals at Rs. 176 per candy.

WHEAT.—A considerable business is reported to have taken place to-day, and we call prices ½ to 1 anna per cwt. higher, the market closing firm at our quotations, say:—

| | Rs. | Rs. | |
|---|---|---|---|
| White Pessy 91 per cent. | 4- 9-6 | | per cwt. |
| Do. 85 „ | 4- 8-6 | | „ |
| No. 1 Club Delhi | 4- 3-0 | to 4-4-0 | „ |
| Red Delhi | 4- 0-0 | | „ |
| Hard Yellow | 4- 7-0 | to 4-8-0 | „ |
| Red Ahmedabad | 4- 3-0 | to 4-3-6 | „ |
| Hard Red | 3-13-0 | | „ |

SEEDS.—Transactions have been on a moderate scale, inquiry not having been brisk; but the market has remained steady in tone with rates quite unchanged.

The Receipts of Produce into Bombay yesterday were as follows:—

|---|---|
| Cotton | 10,643 bales. |
| Wheat | 8,411 cwt. |
| Linseed | 6,299 „ |
| Rapeseed | 715 „ |
| Gingelly | 3,370 „ |
| Ground Nuts | 1,152 „ |

FREIGHTS are quiet but firm. Cotton has been booked for Liverpool for immediate shipment at 32s. 6d. per ton; and for Antwerp, Havre, and Dunkirk, Seed, Wheat, and Cotton have been done at 28s. 9d. for March shipment and for May shipment, at 26s. 3d. per ton.

EXCHANGE opened this morning with a weaker feeling, and with Bank Demand and Telegraphic hardly quoted at yesterday evening's rates, from which a decline of 1-32d. was soon established. A few ready Mercantile Bills have come out at 1s. 4 25-32d. and at 1-32d. less for next mail; and Credits for April, after the first mail, have been quoted at 1s. 4 9-16d. and for May at 1s. 4½d.

The market closed quiet at the following rates for ready business:—

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Bank Bills on demand | 1s. 4 19-32d. | per rupee. |
| Do. Telegraphic | 1s. 4 9-16d. | „ |
| Do. 3 months' sight | 1s. 4 11-16d. | „ |
| Credits do. | 1s. 4 25-32d. | „ |
| Francs do. | 1·77½ | „ |

GOVERNMENT PAPER.—There has been a good deal doing in this market to-day in connection with the settlement of bargains for to-morrow's account and Fours advanced ¼ per cent for cash and the account, though at closing the rise was only 3-16, at 97 15-16. For the 30th instant account the rate has moved up ¼ per cent, say to 98⅜, the nominal quotation for 4½ per cents being still 102⅛ to 103.

SHARES.—Hardly anything fresh has transpired to-day, and the only alterations in our list this evening are a decline of Rs. 25 in Jubilee Mill scrip, at Rs. 850; and an advance of Rs 7½ in Khatao Mucconji, at Rs. 735; and an advance of Rs. 2½ in Mofussil Press shares, at Rs. 417½. Bank of Bombay shares are Rs. 2½ higher, at Rs. 417½; National Bank have advanced Rs. 5, say to Rs. 140 per share.

INDIA IN PARLIAMENT.

THE INCOME FROM THE SALT TAX IN INDIA ONEROUS.

LONDON, MARCH 1.

In the House of Commons last night Sir John Gorst (Under-Secretary for India), replying to a question, said that the returns of the salt consumed in India were being closely watched.

Lord Cross (Secretary of State for India), speaking on the same subject in the House of Lords, said he was convinced that the earliest occasion should be taken to abrogate the increase in the salt tax.

THE INCOME FROM EXCISE IMMORAL.

Replying to a question relative to Mr. Caine's statements, His Lordship said that the policy uniformly inculcated in India is to make repression in drinking and in the use of opium the first object of the excise, the raising of the revenue being purely a secondary consideration.

THE FRENCH CHAMBERS AND THE ATCHINOFF AFFAIR.

PARIS, FEB. 28.

In the Chamber of Deputies to-day M. Spuller (Minister of Foreign Affairs) regretted the incident in connection with the Cossack expedition to Abyssinia, but said the measures taken by the French Commander were entirely due to Atchinoff's arrogance. M. Spuller then expressed profound friendship towards Russia, and a motion endorsing the same was unanimously adopted by the Chamber.

The Parisian police have seized the officers of the Patriotic League, owing to a Manifesto having been issued by them denouncing the treatment of Atchinoff by the French.

MERCHANDISE TRADE MARKS BILL.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, MARCH 1.

In his speech on the Merchandise Trade Marks Bill the Hon. Mr. Scoble observed that it related to all classes of goods whether manufactured in India or imported into it, and deals with three classes of offences, namely, imitation of trade marks, application to goods of a false trade description, and the trading in falsely marked goods. The Bill gives wider definition to trade marks than in the Penal Code, so as to cover the marks used to denote that goods are either the manufacture or the merchandise of a particular person. There has been an important alteration of the principle in regard to offences under the Bill. Ordinarily it is incumbent on the prosecution to prove that a person charged had acted with intent to defraud. Under the law as now proposed it is incumbent on the person charged to prove that he acted innocently. Those who make or apply false marks must prove that they acted without intent to defraud, and merely dealers in falsely marked goods need only show that they took reasonable precautions and had no ground to suspect fraud. In order to give time to dispose of unstamped goods section 19 postpones the operation of the penal clauses as regards foreign goods until the 1st August, and as regards the piece-goods made in British India until the 1st July of the current year.

Sir Dinshaw Manockjee Petit proposed the stamping of correct breadth on piece-goods.

The Hon. Mr. Steel opposed the foregoing proposition as it was unnecessary and unadvisable. The Bill was then passed.

TELEGRAPHIC WEATHER REPORT.

SIMLA, MARCH 1.—The barometer has fallen rapidly in Upper Sind, Rajputana, and the Punjab. An area of shallow depression stretches across from Upper Sind into the Central Provinces. Skies are clouded over in the Punjab and at the hill stations, and are partially clouded in the North-West Provinces and Rajputana. The temperature has increased generally, and is excessive in the Central Provinces and Central India, where the mean temperature yesterday was from five to eight degrees above normal. Winds are light and very irregular over the whole of the Northern and Central India. Southerly winds have set in on the Bengal Coast. Quetta reports a light shower yesterday. The weather is slightly disturbed in Upper and Central India and some thunder showers are probable.

COLONEL BAYLEY'S VOLUNTEER BALL.

THE ball given last night by Colonel Bayley, Commandant of the Bombay Volunteer Rifle Corps, was a great success. Everything was done in admirable style, and the Town Hall, thanks to the labours of Major Roughton, B.V.A. and Qr.-Master Soundy, B.V.R., presented quite a fairy-like appearance. H. E. the Governor and Lady Reay, attended by Captains Phayre and Brooke, A.D.C., arrived early and stayed some time. Supper was served at midnight, and it was two o'clock before the programme of sixteen engagements was danced through. The hall was commodiously arranged, those present including the naval and military officers and judges and the members of the bar.

"DANDY DICK" AT THE NOVELTY.

NOTWITHSTANDING the fact that only so recently "Dandy Dick" was performed for two successive evenings at the Novelty, and that last night there was a counter attraction in the shape of the Volunteer dance in the Town Hall, there was a good turn out to witness the amateurs repeat their performance of the amusing piece, which was this time given under the patronage of the Bombay Hunt in aid of the European General Hospital. Well as it was done before, last evening's representation was even an improvement on the last, more rehearsal having knocked off all the little rough edges that were observeable on the first night, and enabling them to dispense entirely with the services of the prompter. Major Vibart was as perfect as before in the role of The Dean; Mr. J. H. Twiss was perhaps even more amusing as Blore, the Butler; Mr. W. T. Buck had the satisfaction of creating as much merriment as before by his portrait of the carroty-haired Yorkshire village constable, Noah Topping; Mr. C. Prescott-Decie's Sir Tristam, Captain Hodgkinson's Major Tarvar, Mr. A. K. Froome's Lieut. Derby, and Mr. J. R. Phillips's Hatcham were all as satisfactory as before. Mrs. Hay was, if anything, even better as the "Lady of the Turf," Mrs. Georgiana Tidman, if that were possible, the tit-bits in her part of the dialogue seeming to be more accentuated. As the Dean's daughters Mrs. Lloyd and Mrs. Wilkin again deserve to be complimented, as does also Miss Van Overbeke as Hannah Topping. The stage was again very prettily set.

THE ROYAL EDICT ON HIGH DRESS.

(FROM OUR LADY CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, FEB. 8.

SINCE the old, old days, when Mother Eve, the world's first milliner and modiste, set herself to arrange a society costume, the question of dress has always been a troublesome one. For the first years of the world there was a good trade done and much satisfaction given at Mother Eve's ready-made clothing depot. But since some antediluvian duke—some vain young hunter, flushed with the pride of bagging his first big game—introduced the innovation of using his victim's skin as an overcoat, there has never been any limit to the vagaries of fashion. History is not niggardly of its descriptions of the styles that have been worn since those good old times. The high priest's garb of white and purple and hyacinth is almost as familiar to us as the garments which Brian O'Lynn and his successor O'Brien of Tullamore have made historic. But during this last week we more than ever have had a fit of clothes on the brain. With Bon Gaultier in the lay of the Levite, we might say with slight modification,—

> There is a sound that's dear to me,
> It haunts me in my sleep;
> I wake, and if I hear it not,
> I cannot choose but weep.
> Above the roaring of the wind,
> Above the rivers flow;
> Methinks I hear the mystic cry
> Of "Clo!—Old Clo!"

But it is not old but new clothes that haunt us. It is the question of wherewith shall we be clad at the coming drawing-room that has been taking up our attention so persistently that we have hardly been able to spare a sigh for the poor patriot fighting for his garments in Clonmel, or a tear of sympathy with the poor Emperor, who is crying out, like the poet king of old, over his son's untimely end—Oh Absalom, oh! my son.

* * *

The tyrant fashion has monopolized all our attention lately, for an official ukase has gone forth that in the future, in case of illness, infirmity, or advancing years, ladies may, at the early drawing-rooms, wear their bodices cut high and opening V or square in front. The Star sings in its courses on the subject. "There is balm in Gilead," it says, "for the lean damsels and scraggy matrons of the upper ten." I do not see in the official edict any mention of the lean or the scraggy, only of the ill, the old, and the infirm, and I would have thought that it was unnecessary for the Queen to legislate on their behalf. Surely, if a lady is ill, she would be better at home than waiting her turn even in a high square bodice to be presented to Her Majesty. Surely, if she is infirm or old, she cannot have a neck worth looking at, and common sense as well as fitness, would suggest, if not oblige, her wearing her garments quite high to the throat. I am afraid there is no balm in Gilead for the myriads of boay and angular, though hardy, women who wish to attend the February drawing-room. "I look so deplorably healthy," said a tall, good-looking girl to me, "that I have not a chance of escaping the low bodice, though my neck is quite the most ill-finished object you ever saw. I wonder would the Lord Chancellor pass me as consumptive." Certainly, if the Lord Chancellor is expected to "vet" all the ladies that wish to be passed unsound in wind and limb, he will have enough to do. For pretty as a low dress with short sleeves looks on a pretty woman, there are very few who care to wear it on a sharp February morning with a souppon of snow in the air.

The bodices approved by the Queen are rather nice and are sure to be becoming. One has a high Medici collar, and is cut square with revers and with lace ruffles round the throat and the elbow sleeves. Another bodice is three-quarter high and open heart-shaped in front, with elbow sleeves, which may be thick or transparent. The ordinary rules about feathers and tulle, trains and gloves, remain the same. The plumes must be visible to the Queen as their wearer approaches, and the train must be three yards at least for a small person and four for a tall one. Poor, dear, tall girls. Everything seems to be awry for them. They are mostly of the lean type, and yet they may not hide their skeleton even behind a curtain of tulle, and they must needs wear longer and more expensive gowns. Every one knows what a lot of trimming is required to relieve the monotony of a long woman's dress, and so it is, I must say, hard lines that she should be expected to add to her expenses by yards of extra stuff trailing on the floor behind her. It is quite the fashion to interview people on any subject that they are supposed to have some acquaintance with, so, regardless of whether they like being interviewed or no, we are all obliged to pump our neighbour on his speciality. This week I fortunately hit on an artist whose hobby is dress—not necessarily æsthetic dress, but general fitness, and I attacked him on the subject of the Court new decrees. "What do you think, Mr. A, about the new rule of high evening dress for the elderly, the ill, and the infirm?" "I am a worshipper of the beautiful," said my artist friend, "and I fail to see how the culte of the beautiful can be served by the elderly, ill, or the infirm appearing in low dress, or in fact appearing at all under any circumstances."

"But are elderly people never fit to be seen?" I asked, with some trepidation. I felt that we must all grow old sooner or later, and even with the best intentions of following Mme. de Sevigné's instructions of trying to grow old gracefully it is not pleasant to imagine oneself de trop in the world. My artist friend happily does not object to old women "in their place," that is, at their own fireside—tripping on the light fantastic toe in a ball-room, or driving "Jezabelesque," as he said, through the streets, he thoroughly disapproves of them, and so, I think, do we all. Nothing, in his opinion, comes up to the classic dress for showing off a beautiful form—the bend of the pretty neck, the setting of the rounded arm, the line of the figure, the freedom of movement permitted by the easy flowing drapery. "Oh! when will women," he exclaimed, "give up their composite draperies, their unyielding bodices, and their untruthful folds?" When will they give them up. "Never," I replied, thoroughly roused. "Talk of women's untruthfulness in dress while men's costumes are such deliberate shams. Buttonholes that do not button, pockets that do not hold, neckties that do not tie, hats that do not even fit on the head." I could tolerate his dissertation as long as he confined himself to dowagers and high bodices, but male criticism cannot be given unlimited rein, and in talking of woman's ordinary dress one must draw the line somewhere and write up "thither shalt thou go and no farther."

"I was painting a young man's portrait some time ago," said a lady artist to me. "He was a little out of the common in his ideas, and his taste went so far that he objected to being painted in a 'masher' collar and necktie." "I would like to be painted so," he said, pointing to the likeness of a beautiful girl in classic costume. And it took some time to explain to that young man that he would not make a beautiful picture in classic costume. He had not evidently recognized the beauty of woman's form, nor the exceeding angularity of a thin man.

The Guards have been holding high festival in the barracks at Chelsea, and been entertaining the world and his wife. Of course, the faces of Royalty, who usually beam on the Guards' effort at burlesque, were absent on account of the Royal sorrow in Austria. But the little theatre was crowded with bright, pleasant faces. Lady Londesborough and her husband, Lady Waterford, Miss Norreys, Mrs. Labouchere, Lord Mountmorres, and a good many other well known people were to be seen in the stalls, while the back of the theatre was packed with soldiers, who made a bright scarlet background, which was very becoming to the ladies in evening dress. The burlesque was Ivanhoe, and the title rôle was taken and excellently played by Lieutenant B. J. Rivett, of the Scots Guards. Lieutenant H. R. Compton Roberts as Rowena was most ludicrous, and her smiles, as she says, "That is a man methinks that I could love," were quite too utterly loving. Professionals were called in for the ladies' parts, Miss Jenny McNulty, Miss Kate Vaughan, and the Misses Sherley and Heathcote. I enjoy amateur acting so much that I think it is a pity when a play is only a half-and-half affair. I suppose Chelsea Barrack ladies are diffident, or, like Robin in the song, they are "shy." To me it was very distressing that the ladies were shy.

GUN LICENSES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—I fully agree with your correspondent, who quite recently complained of the considerable delay which the District officers in the mofussil make in renewing the "purwanas" of gun-license holders. The consequence of the delay becomes dangerous when the pass-holder has some occasion to traverse districts infested with wild animals. In the absence of a renewed purwana the licensee cannot purchase the requisites of his gun. It is nearly three months since the purwanas of our local license-holders have been lying with the District Magistrate of Surat for renewal. We hope, therefore, that the energetic officer will before long see to this.—Yours, &c.,

Surat, Feb. 27. A MOFUSSILITE.

—Yours, &c.,

March 1. LOVER OF FINE ARTS.

THE BHUNDARWADA HILL GARDENS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—Some few days ago, tired of the monotonous Back-Bay walk, I resolved to go to Bhundarwada Hill with a view to find change of scene. It was just sunset when I arrived at the foot of the hill, but I was disappointed to find that both the smaller and the main gates were closed. I encountered a Purdesi sitting behind the main gate in the enclosure, who told me very politely that the hill gardens were closed to the general public, and that no individual, whether European or Native, was allowed to enter and promenade in the gardens if not furnished with a written permission from the Municipal Commissioner. He did not show me, nor was there posted up, any notice to that effect. The public are not bound by the written regulations communicated to them by Purdesis. But this is assuming the closing of the gardens to the public. Are they really closed to the general public?—Yours, &c.,

Feb. 27. A. B.

THE Monte Carlo correspondent of the Paris edition of New York Herald writes:—All the hotels are full. Even the new Prince of Wales's, opened but a fortnight ago, has but a few top rooms at liberty. The latest "lion" is Lord Randolph Churchill. He walks about in a white Tyrolean hat; drops down to take a peep at the pigeon shooting, or looks into the Casino to see how the ball is rolling. He likes the excitement of roulette, plays frequently, and, for a man of his means, rather heavily. I have watched his "plants" on one or two occasions, and so far the bank seems to have had the advantage—comme toujours. The leader of the House of Commons has left us. He set his face against the Casino—never once entered it—and devoted almost the whole of his time to quiet rambles upon the charming hillsides. Wise man! He looks much better for his stay here, and has gone to Cannes for the remainder of the recess.

A CORRESPONDENT writes:—In anticipation of the railway race this summer from London to Edinburgh, the East Coast Companies are not resting on their laurels. The North-Eastern Railway, who are responsible for the major part of the running, viz, from York to Edinburgh, have already got one of their huge newest type of compound engines running on their line. These engines have single driving wheels of large diameter, and are compounded on the Worsdell and Von Borries system. The Great Northern on their part are not only building huge engines, with tenders carrying sufficient water to run to York, but are sinking troughs between the rails, so that the engines can pick up their water-supply while running. King's Cross to York without a stop will be the longest unbroken run in the world. The distance is 188 miles, about 20 miles more than Euston to Crewe, which is at present the longest run ever made.

SERIOUS ASSAULT ON MR. AND MRS. CHALK.

THE case in which Mr. Chalk charges seven villagers at Pali with assaulting him, Mrs. Chalk, and some of his servants was continued yesterday in the court of Mr. Hirlalal, Deputy Collector at Thana. Mr. Mosilal appeared for the prosecution and Mr. Sha muroo Vithal, a High Court pleader, instructed by three district pleaders, appeared for the defence.

A warrant had been issued against Narayen Bala, a Marwadi, who surrendered yesterday, and handed to the court a document stating that the warrant had been issued against him at the instigation of one Hormusjee Jamasji and Motilal Juguldas. Mr. Chalk strongly objected to the statement being received by the court, as it was absolutely false. The magistrate took a note of Mr. Chalk's objection.

Mathew De Cunha said: I am a manager of Mr. Chalk's estate, and have been in his service for the last three years and a half. I was told on the morning in question to make preparations to erect a hut. I gave orders to the malees to take down some crowbars, bamboos, cadjans, &c., for the purpose of building the shed. I remember they were placed in our compound, by the side of the wall of the well. They were placed in such a position that they must have been seen by persons approaching the spot from the Danda side. A previous attempt had been made to build the hut, but it had been frustrated by Narayen and others, who were prosecuted against and convicted by a magistrate. When I arrived at the spot I saw four or five persons and some water chatties on the site of the hut. I had never seen the chatties placed there before. Mr. Chalk ordered the removal of the chatties for the purpose of erecting the hut, but the coolis refused to do so. Mr. Chalk then ordered his malee Seewa Baloo to dig a hole with the crow bar for the purpose of erecting the post. Sewa was about to do so, when one Lakhya, who is not now in court, pushed Mr. Chalk, and one of the accused struck Sewa on the temple with his clenched fist. Another cooli, by name Bhowani, who is also not in court, struck Sewa with a stick on the neck. Then somebody called out "Dhar, dhar," that is, come running. A number of people then came in from the rice fields outside. Accused No. 1 inflicted a blow with a stick on Mr. Chalk's head which knocked his helmet off. Two or three men came running after me, so I took to my heels. I was not injured by them, as they could not catch me. There were some twenty or twenty-five people. After the assault, I received instructions to make inquiries, and the day after the assault I made inquiries at the suggestion of the police. I questioned the malees on the subject. So far as I am aware no obstruction was offerded to fishermen passing to and from the well, nor would the hut, if it had been allowed to be erected, have interfered with their access to the well from the Danda side. Mr. Chalk had never, to my knowledge, placed any obstruction whatever in the way of fishermen going to and from the well.

At the close of this witness's evidence, Mr. Shamrao said he would not cross-examine the witnesses for the prosecution if his Worship intended to commit the case to the sessions. Mr. Chalk said he would be quite content to have the case disposed of by the Magistrate.

The Magistrate said he did not at all know that he would commit the case.

Mr. Shamrao said it would be very convenient if he were allowed to reserve the cross-examination until the case for the prosecution had been closed.

The Magistrate granted the application.

Govind Mahadeo, a servant in the employ of Mr. Chalk, identified some of the accused as having been implicated in the assault. He was assaulted by some of the people assembled near the well, whereupon he ran away for his life. He was confined to his house for two days on account of the injuries he had received. He had seen Nandu Pardesee strike Mr. Chalk with a stick. Witness did not stop to save his master, because some thirty persons formed the attacking party.

Mr. Chalk here asked for a certified copy of the document presented by Narayen, containing allegations against himself, his pleader, Mr. Motilal, and his clerk, Mr. Hormusji. Mr. Chalk expressed his indignation at the utterly false and unfounded insinuations against them, and said they were all prepared, if it were deemed necessary, to enter the witness box and deny the charges on oath.

Mr. Shamrao: I have nothing whatever to do with these allegations.

Mr. Chalk said he should like to know who had written that document. No pleader having any sense of the dignity and honour of his profession would put hispen to a document containing such false accusations.

Mr. Shamrao: I have the highest respect for Mr. Chalk and Mr. Motilal, and I myself again wish emphatically to disclaim all connection with the petition.

Mr. Chalk: It is perfectly plain that the parties implicated in preparing such a false document without any intention of proving the allegations contained in it would be unworthy of practising in any court in any land.

Narayen Dadaji, chief constable, Bandora, said:—During the last few months there have been disturbances in Mr. Chalk's compound, and I was called on for a report conc anthropology for want of suitable rooms and the necessary instruments with. I think we should ascertain from Mr. Maclean the cost of a complete set of measuring instruments, and as we have now a large number of members we might take steps to acquire a suitable house for the Society. With such an institution everyone in India who takes an interest in the science would be glad to join us.

THE TAJ-MAHAL.

The following lines on the famous building—the passing of the Emperor's sorrow to the woman he loved—are extracted from Sir Edwin Arnold's new book, "Pearls of the Faith or Islam's Rosary":—

Ah, the white wonder! here there been who came
And gazed, and laid staff and surveying chain
Along thy sacred sides, Fairest of fanes!
Who with yard-rule would count the inches off
From Aphrodite's Parian majesty,
And stretch tape o'er Elysian asphodel.
He hath not eyes to see whose eyes have seen
The glory of the beauty of the Taj,
Nor knew and felt, as seeing, how man's hand
Comes nearest God's herein, touching his charm
Of rounded silvery clouds in that poised Dome
Which hangs between the sky's blue and the stream's,
A passion, and a worship, and a faith,
Writ fast, in alabaster.

MALE DRESS.

A CORRESPONDENT, describing himself as "merely a man," writes to "Flower o' the May" in the World about male dress, begging her to give this subject more attention.

The first points he suggests—evening dress and the overcoat, both of which he protests against because of their ugliness—I pass over for the moment to the burning question of corsets. I will quote some of his letter, which will explain itself:

"Is it true that men are taking to wearing corsets? For a long time past I have used a belt, but am afraid to have my coat fit at the waist, as I see too many men with such ugly dents there. Should the two soon if I tried the effect of the newest graceful corset? I think many of your readers would be interested in knowing whether you think the corset is being more worn; also the proper place to go to for them, without being compelled to pay a prohibitive price. . . . . A stupid idea possesses the world that to wear a corset is to be effeminate. It is a mere question of fashion. Sir Walter Raleigh and Sir Philip Sydney, by their portraits, must have pinched their waists; but neither of them was effeminate, nor was that age in which they lived. The most tightly-laced man I ever knew was a Prussian officer of Uhlans. He won the Iron Cross in the Franco-German War. His comrades always wore corsets and acknowledged it, saying they were necessary to make their uniforms fit properly. The French did not find these men effeminate. Surely it is far more effeminate to have to make one's face smooth, but, being the fashion, it is not thought wrong."

Surely, thought I, if Sir Morell Mackenzie had not many other things to think of, this letter would rouse him into speech. It is so ingenuous and so serious that it appeals to my better feelings, and I, that neglect my correspondence in an almost criminal manner, feel it must be answered. Therefore, being very ignorant on the subject of masculine tight-lacing, I made many inquiries about it of all sorts of well-informed people. Although I knew of myself amounted to very little: that I had once heard a certain corsetiere say that making stays for gentlemen was part of her business. I went to look for this same corsetiere, but it was an experience like that of looking for an old landmark the sea has washed away. She had failed long ago, and gone under, I heard in the course of my afternoon of inquiry making. In this city of dressing and of overdressing new servitors of fashion spring into life every day; but for each new one that appears and then falls away, and passes into oblivion. I learned many details in the course of my inquiries which will interest my correspondent, and perhaps others. It is not too soon to wear the "graceful corset," since the gilded youth of the Guards, the Coldstreams, and the 17th Lancers have long made a practice of wearing it, and, furthermore, of lacing it tightly. It is true that these beauty men are understood only to wear it on parade, and I have not yet actually traced to earth any one of them who will admit that he wears it under his ordinary dress. It is for the sake of his uniform and the appearance of the regiment that he thus sacrifices himself so he gives his friends to understand. But I doubt all this. I think the other coats, like these gowns women wear, are made and worn over the corsets, if not actually fitted to them. It is fear of ridicule alone which prevents this. The men are as proud of their waists as any tighted laced. I heard of one young officer, about five feet eight inches in height, who owns a waist of twenty-two inches—when he is pulled in. And as to the prohibitive price, this gentleman, with his incomparable figure, wears ordinary ready-made ladies' corsets at twenty-five shillings a pair! and they are scarcely altered at all for him.

But now for my final piece of information, which perseverance obtained for me. Sykes Josephine, 280 Regent Street, make corsets for gentlemen, having many tightly-laced and beautiful officers among their customers. They make them to order in which case they are done in very excellent, and the Milan-made stay laces with [illegible] as they call them ready-made, in which case they are still good, and quite cheap.

ADELINA PATTI'S EARLY YEARS.

LONG before she could speak plainly little Adelina Patti would hum all the airs she had learned at her mother's knee with amazing facility. Thus says the Queen, which proceeds as follows:—

Nothing delighted her so much as to accompany her parents to the theatre when they went to fulfil their evening's engagement. Propped up against a wing, she would follow their performances through a hole in the canvas calmly disposing of apples and sweetmeats, with which the artists liberally supplied her the while. Well she remembers how, on the occasion of an eminent prima donna making her debut at the New York Opera House, she ran up to the great lady, who was currently reported to be the spoiled darling of an enthusiastic public, and, with the ingenuous impertinence of her five summers, exclaimed "How badly you trill! You rest too long on the second note. Listen to me, and try to do it as I do!"

After the opera was over, the child, on returning home, would jump out of bed when all was quiet in the house, and, by the light of a candle, would attire herself in a red cloak of her mother's and, with her father's snow-white perched on her head, would emulate the scenes now from "Norma," now from "Lucia," or "Sonnambula," clapping her hands and shouting bravo at her own performance, while showering home-made wreaths and bouquets of newspaper at her feet. At length a crisis came in her parents' affairs, and their finances being at the lowest ebb, the child herself proposed giving a concert, for which tickets, at a few cents, sold well enough.

Mdme. Barili, as she powdered her child's small brown face, felt no unusual trepidation; but Adelina herself, nothing daunted, clutched her doll Henriette in her arms, and strutting on the platform with ineffable impottance, curtseyed with her hand on her heart as she had seen Grisi before her, and then with the most precocious postures imaginable commenced her "Casta Diva." Loud laughter and applause greeted the gifted child, whose voice, if not strong, was pure and thrilling as a blackbird's and whose execution of intricate passages was well-nigh phenomenal. Nor did the prestige of the diva of seven summers in any way suffer from the fact that in the middle of her song her wandering eye espying a friend among her audience, she exclaimed in her quaint little Yankee tones, "Oh, Nelly! do just come right away when I've finished singing, and see my new doll!"

From that day Adelina Patti's concerts became the rage of the town, and for two years she worked so hard, that at the end of that time she was enabled to buy a large red brick house at Mount Vernon, where she lived with her family until she was sixteen years of age, when she made her debut at the New York Opera House.

The rules for her everyday life, which Mdme. Patti has recently given to an interviewer, will be read with interest. "When I am at home," she says, "I go to bed early—at 10-30. I rise early—that is early for singers, which means 10-30. So you see, when I am not singing, I sleep nearly twelve hours out of the twenty-four. Plenty of sleep—that is the secret of beauty and freshness. I don't sleep until ten, of course, but I make it a point not to get up at once when I wake, but to get a glass of hot water and a lemon and read my letters before getting out of bed. It's a mistake to jump up right away after waking. On singing days I take a light and early dinner at three and only a biscuit and a cup of hot bouillon after the performance. No great quantity of food and plenty of sleep—that's the way to keep one's complexion and figure intact. I rarely touch wine; a liqueur glassful of whisky after luncheon or dinner, sometimes a glass of champagne—nothing more."

AN IDEAL CLUB.

THE Prince's Club, exactly opposite the Knightsbridge Barracks, will be completed early in March, when its Pompeian decorations; its plungebath, lined with blue enamel, and a herb of beaten brass; its cooling-room, with Moorish painted windows, and a half-enough dome designed by Mr. Campbell; and the spacious tennis-courts, which induced that most competent of judges, Mr. Orchardson, R.A., to exclaim last week, "There is nothing like this in all Europe," will doubtless be the talk of the town. "The Prince's" is to be athletic and not Bohemian; the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Connaught are both members and debenture-holders; while Sir William Hart-Dyke presides over a committee which includes Mr. Hwfa Williams, Admiral Maxse, and several well-known Guardsmen amongst its members. The Prince's owes its origin to the energy and enterprise of Mr. Hippesley Cox of the Coldstream Guards, and if appearances may be trusted and the first list of members be any criterion, it should do something more than revive the glories of the old club bearing the same name which flourished on the site of Lennox Gardens and Cadogan Square. The possession of the finest hammam in London should not be the least powerful of its attractions.

FROM the 16th to the 22nd instant, 8 East Indians, 9 Native Christians, 282 Hindus, and 58 Mahomedans died in Madras, making a total of 357 persons. The average of the corresponding week for the ten previous years was 320. The deaths are thus classified, viz., 5 from cholera, 32 from measles, 77 from fever, 42 from dysentery, 19 from diarrhœa, and 182 from other diseases. The death-rate in the week under notice was 46·5 per 1,000 per annum. The mean of the ten previous years was 41·5 per 1,000 per annum.

"PICKWICK" SET TO MUSIC.

LET its author classify it as he may think fit, "Pickwick" is in any case a very amusing production, says a home paper. It is worthy of being bracketed with the same author's "Black-eyed Seousan," or with his "Cox and Box," which it more nearly resembles. His object seems to have been, in the first place, to presenton the stage two familiar Pickwickian characters, and especially Mr. Pickwick himself. With Mr. Pickwick (Mr. Arthur Cecil) is associated Mrs. Bardell (Miss Lottie Venne); and the third leading personage in the piece is a certain baker (Mr. Rutland Barrington) whom readers of "Pickwick" will, as a rule, scarcely remember, but for whose existence, and for the part he plays, Mr. Burnand finds warrant in Dickens's own pages. The nameless baker (it is as the "baker" simply that he is spoken of in the "Pickwick Papers") is Mr. Pickwick's rival in the affections of Mrs. Bardell; and, after serenading that lady in an appropriate "baker-roll," and pressing her to accept his hand, he entering suddenly, finds her in the arms of Mr. Pickwick. Then, abandoning her for ever, he goes out and marries some one else; for which also Mr. Burnand has the authority of Dickens himself.

The piece is almost from beginning to end in music: songs, duets, concerted music (of which, however, there is but little), fully accompanied recitative, and now and then, recitative of the kind appropriately entitled "dry." Of spoken dialogue there is scarcely any. The score shows everywhere ingenious musical interpretation of the author's ideas and words; and it has the further advantage—most important of all advantages so far as popularity is concerned—of containing a good number of really melodious themes. Many of the songs, in which it is above all necessary that the words shall be heard, are set to the simplest of tunes supported by the lightest of accompaniments; Mr. Solomon here following (and he could not do better) the example of Sir Arthur Sullivan in dealings with certain narrative and descriptive ballads in the Savoy pieces.

The most successful song in "Pickwick" is probably Mrs. Bardell's "My Next;" in which the worthy lanulady speculates to a graceful flowing tune in 3-8 time as to the probable merits and defects of her second husband. Mr. Pickwick, on the other hand, has a number of capital comic songs to sing. Here are some stanzas from one, in which Mr. Pickwick sets forth his reasons for engaging a valet.

For whenever, I pack,
I've a pain in my back,
Which does of age remind me.
And when I've done,
It's ten to one
That I've left my boots behind me.

Mr. Pickwick's bachelor song is too long to quote. Here, however, are some excellent stanzas from Mrs. Bardell's opening ballad:—

My funds were very low,
And I sighed, with truth, "heigh-ho!"
As I swivelled in the room I drink my tea in,
I said, "I'll take in lodgers,
Though if they turn out dodgers,
I'm afraid the artful lodgers will take me in."

So a simple card for luck
In the window-pane I stuck:
It was never as a model work of art meant;
It was but to catch the eye
Of the honest passer-by
Who just then might be in search of an apartment.

Within a week one came,
Mr. Pickwick was his name,
No needy clerk nor captivating soger;
But an independent gent,
Who has always paid his rent,
And been with me two years—a model lodger.

There's in Mr. Pickwick's eye
A sparkling light, which I descry,
Like a candle-flame that's burning round a thick
wick!
But, alas! it only beams
In my very wildest dreams,
When he looks on me and murmurs "Mr. Pickwick?"

Nor has the baker in his lyrical character been forgotten. It is he, of course, who sings the charming serenade or "baker-roll." His lines, too, include jokes on every thing connected with the baker's occupations—as flour, dough, (nut), etc., etc. But why in this connection did Mr. Burnand take no thought of the great baker of the present, and it may be the baker of the future—the illustrious Boulanger?

MORE GLEANINGS FROM MAX O'RELL.

SOME further extracts from Mr. Max O'Rell's new book, "Jonathan and His Continent," which is on the point of publication by Mr. Arrowsmith of Bristol are given below:—

AMERICAN ADMIRATION OF GLITTER.

It would be quite possible for an actress to attract large audiences all through a tour from New York to San Francisco, not because of incontestable talent, but because she travelled in a magnificent palace-car of her own. Here is an American paper the appearance of Miss Minnie Palmer is announced in the following terms:—"Minnie Palmer will wear all her diamonds in the third act. The booking-office was besieged all day, and in the evening money was refused. An amusing detail was the arrival of a good fourth of the audience at ten o'clock to see the diamonds in the third act.

VERY NICE; BUT NOT BOSTON.

All the anecdotes told in America on the subject of Boston are satires upon the presumptuous character of the Bostonian, who considers Boston the centre of the universe. Here is one of the many hundreds I have heard:—

A Boston man has lost his wife. As soon as telephonic communication is established between that city and Paradise he rings and cries:

"Hello!"

"Hello!" from the other end.

"Is that you, Artemisia?"

"Yes, dear."

"Well, my love, and how do you like it up there."

"Oh, it is very nice of course; but it isn't Boston."

AMERICAN HOSPITALITY.

American hospitality is princely. You are not often invited, even in houses where the daily menu is of the most appetizing, to go and share the family dinner. You are not invited to dine: a fete is got up for you. If this cannot be arranged, you may not be invited at all. You generally find that you have been asked to a banquet: oysters' soup, hors-d'œuvre, fish, relevés, entrees, sorbets, roasts, stew of terrapin, game (raw canvas-back duck, when in season), salad, five or six vegetables, pastry, sweets, cheese, ices, and dessert, the whole washed down with the choicest wines: chateau-yquem, amontillado, iced champagne, chateau-lafitte, and such precious beverages. In good American houses the cooking is excellent; you will not find better in London and Paris. The most recherche of American dishes is terrapin stew; when in season, it figures at every feast. The flavour is so pronounced that one is bound to think it either delicious or detestable. I Am obliged to tell you which I think it? An American one day asked me whether I liked terrapin. "It is but polite," I replied, "to bow to the customs of a country one visits. Terrapin is eaten in the United States—and I eat it." Canvas-back duck is a great delicacy. It is hung in front of a fire for a few minutes only. The first time this purple meat is presented to you it horrifies you; but I advise you to try and surmount your repugnance, the dish is exquisite.

THE AMERICAN DAMSEL.

From the age of eighteen the American girl is allowed almost every liberty. She can travel alone, and go to concerts and even to theatres unattended by a chaperon. She is supplied with pocket-money, which she spends at her own sweet will in bonbons, knick-knacks, and jewellery. If there is none left for the milliner and dressmaker, papa is coaxed to pay them. She visits and receives whom she pleases—I mean those who please her. She has her own circle of acquaintances. If, at a ball, she meet with a young man who takes her fancy, I do not say touches her heart, she says to him. "I am at home on such a day; come and see me." Next day he may send her a ticket for a theatre and be her escort for the evening. He may bring her flowers, offer her refreshments after the play, and take her home in a carriage. In America, all this seems to be the most natural thing in the world. This leads to no intimacy, for a few days later it may happen that he meets the young lady at a ball, and she comes up to him and says: "I want to present you to a friend; do tell me your name, I quite forget it."

FEMININE WORSHIP OF MONEY.

It seems to me that the American woman does not render to man a hundredth part of the adoration he renders to her. If love could spring from gratitude, Jonathan would be the most beloved of men. In the eyes of the American woman, man has his good points. He ensures her a good position when he marries her, he works hard to satisfy her smallest wishes, and so long as his signature has any value at the foot of a cheque this will be an extenuating circumstance in his favour.

JOURNALISTIC "ENTERPRISE."

It is when there is a criminal case to handle that American journalism becomes simply sublime. The criminal is no sooner arrested than the reporters hurry to his cell and get him to undergo the curious operation now known throughout the world as "interviewing." He is treated with all the consideration due to a man in his position. "Mr. So-and-so, of the Earthquake, presents his complements to Mr. Blank, charged with murder, and requests the favour of a few minutes' conversation." To be accused of an important crime gives a man a certain standing in America. The more atrocious the crime, the more interesting the accused, and columns upon columns of point supply the public with his slightest sayings and doings. He is the hero of the day. From the prison the reporters go to hunt up the witnesses, whom they also interview in their turn. Regular examinations, these interviews! I know of several American newspapers having quite a staff of detectives—yes, detectives. If a criminal escapes justice or an affair remain surrounded by mystery, these new-fashioned journalists are let loose every morning on a search for the criminal, or to try and pick up threads of information that may lead to the clearing-up of the mystery. These detectives are employed not only in cases of crime, but work just as hard over a divorce or an elopement; it is journalism turned private detective agency. A newspaper that can boast of having brought a criminal to justice, discovered the hiding place of an unfaithful wife, or ran a ravisher to earth, is rewarded by an increased sale forthwith. If there is any love story mixed in with the affair, if there are a few piquant details, you may easily imagine that the public get the worth of its two cents.

REAL STAGE TRAGEDIES.

A RECENT death on the stage has attracted much attention and excited much comment. Sudden death on the stage is of more frequent occurrence than the public is aware, of, writes a home paper, and it is no anomaly to say that actors seldom die out of harness. The ruling passion for their art follows them ofttimes to the verge of the grave, and their last utterances are often the best of some beloved part.

A writer in a weekly paper, speaking of John Coleman's delightful book, "Players and Playwrights," says, "How tragic are the deaths of the tragedians!" and he is right.

E. G. Fordsham, the Garrick of the North, whose career reads like the fitful tale of a romance, died almost in harness, and his last words were strangely prophetic. It was the custom in his time for the principal actor to "give out" at the end of the first piece the performance for the following night. On this occasion Fordshan came forward and said, "Ladies and Gentlemen,—On Monday evening will be presented the tragedy of Coriolanus," to which he added (looking seriously around and placing his hand on his heart), "what we all must come to." Those were his last words on the stage, he died three days after.

Mr. Coleman has omitted to mention the equally tragic death of Fordsham's successor, Cummings, the tragedian, on whom it is said John Kemble fashioned his style. It was at Leeds, while playing the husband of the unfortunate Jane Shore, that this brilliant actor received the last mysterious summons, while in the very act of uttering the words of the beautiful text—

Be witness for me, ye Celestial host,
Such mercy and such pardon as my soul
Accords to thee, and begs of Heaven to show thee,
May such befall me at my latest hour,
And make my portion blest or curst for ever!

As the last word fluttered on his lips he dropped dead before the audience. No holier or more fitting prayer could have fallen from the lips of a saint.

Another defeated genius was G. W. Brooke, who died, as is well-known, on the illfated London. His sister was lying below, sick and helpless. At the last moment, when the men who escaped took to their boats they urged him to accompany them, but he put them gently aside, and said, "No" thanks. You are very good, lads, but I can't leave her." As they were moving away he said, "When you get to Melbourne, remember me to the boys." For answer they gave a parting cheer. As they pulled off they saw him leaning over the rail, his feet paddling in the rising water, a sad sweet smile upon his face, his wistful eyes fixed upon them till the ship faded out of sight, and darkness fell upon the deep.

Phelps had a most superstitious regard of the word "Farewell," and he invariably refused to make a farewell speech, owing to the fact that he had once dreamed that he should die on the stage if he ever attempted to make one. A most singular verification of this presentiment is recorded of his last appearance. "During the performance of Henry VIII., when acting Wolsey, while in the very act of uttering the ominous words—

Farewell! a long farewell to all my greatness! he broke down in utter collapse, and the curtain, as it slowly descended, shut him out from the public gaze for ever, his foreboding had been realised, and the farewell he could never teach his tongue to speak the poet had spoken for him."

Charles Dillon's last words were those of his great part of Beverley; he was laughing and talking amid a group of friends, when he paused suddenly, put his hand to his head, as he was wont to do as Beverley, and exclaimed, "God! can this be death!" As the words left his lips he fell dead without a groan.

Edmund and Charles Kean appeared together for the last time at Covent-graden Theatre, the play was Othello, the Moor by Mr. Charles Kean, Iago by his son. The play went splendidly, the elder Kean surpassing himself in impressive demeanour, despite his age and waning powers. In the great scene between Iago and Othello in the third act, all went well until the celebrated exclamation, "Villain!" &c., but on that word Kean's voice broke—he paused a second, and then his head gradually fell on his son's shoulder. "Get me off, Charles," he whispered hoarsely, "I'm dying!" Charles led him off the stage, and all was over; the rest is a matter of history.

It is recorded that Palmer, the eminent actor, while enacting The Stranger, at the Theatre Royal, Liverpool, died in the act of uttering the words—

There is another and a better world.

The curtain fell upon the awful scene, and then it was discovered that the unfortunate man had actually died of a broken heart upon hearing of the death of a beloved son, the news of which had been conveyed to him just before the end of the play.

The comedians have "shuffled off this mortal coil" in easier fashion. Poor Jemmy Rogers, so long associated with Mrs. Bancroft in the Strand triumphs of Byron's burlesques, is reported to have died as he uttered the words—

The little raffle's over!

Harley, the great comedian, was death-stricken while acting Bottom, the weaver, in Charl s Kean's great revival of A Midsummer Night's Dream. He died while saying the words—

I have an exposition of sleep come upon me.

MADAME TUSSAUD'S.

THIS well known exhibition has recently been taken over by a limited liability company, and a London paper commenting on the fact relates the following history of celebrated waxwork Show:—

When Madame Tussaud, a native of Berne, came to England, in the year 1802, she was already a personage of some distinction. She had taught modelling to the daughter of Louis XVI., and had been the everyday acquaintance of Voltaire and Rousseau, Lafayette and Mirabeau, Robespierre and Barrere. She had modelled the repulsive countenance of Marat in his bath, and the features of Charlotte Corday. In due time, the little Swiss modeller found herself in prison with Madame Beauharnais and her child—the one destined to be the Empress Josephine, and the other to be the wayward mother of Napoleon III. By this time she had accumulated a considerable collection of waxen people who were notorious in their day, and when she had succeeded in putting the sea between her and France, she began to roam the country with her show, mainly composed of the heroes of the Revolution and of the Napoleonic regime. From town to town the cheerful little lady wandered with her caravan, a kind of Mrs. Jarley with the manners of the ancien regime, and scarcely enough broken English to explain the story of her effigies with her own tongue. Her career in those days was a chequered one. Once the entire stock was lost by shipwreck on a voyage to Ireland; but with a stout heart she began the battle of life afresh, and fought it bravely, too, until, in 1833, she, her "unrivaled collection," and her boys came to London where they—or their successors—have ever since continued to be what Don Saltero and his tavern museum were to the holiday folk of last century, or what "Tradescent and his Lambeth Ark" were to the sightseers of Er. Pepys' time.

MRS. SALMON'S.

Unique as "Madame Tussaud's" has been for fifty years, it had a predecessor which was, in a way, almost as famous. Some fifty years before that time which is so pronounced that one is bound to think it either delicious or detestable. I Am obliged to tell you which I think it? An American one day asked me whether I liked terrapin. "It is but polite," I replied, "to bow to the customs of a country one visits. Terrapin is eaten in the United States—and I eat it." Canvas-back duck is a great delicacy. It is hung in front of a fire for a few minutes only. The first time this purple meat is presented to you it horrifies you; but I advise you to try and surmount your repugnance, the dish is exquisite.

MR. JOHN MORLEY AT HOME.

MR. JOHN MORLEY has no stately mansion or far spreading park in the country to which he can go when he wants a breath of fresh air. So he has wisely pitched his tent in London on the outskirts of the town. His house lies off the Fulham-road on the way to Hurlingham, and the room in which he works overlooks a pleasant garden. Nothing tells the character of a man more than his own private den, and it only requires a glance round Mr. Morley's study to see how wide his interests are, and the diversity of the tastes which occupy his mind. Every object in the room speaks of the man of taste, the scholar, and the statesman. No garish colors distract the eye, all is rich, quiet, and subdued, without being heavy or dingy. In the window is a large knee-hole escritoir—no useless fancy article—but a wide, broad-topped table, such as the soul of the scholar delights in when he can sit at ease with a score of reference books around him. One side of the room is occupied by capacious book case, on whose shelves treatises on philosophy contend for the place of honor with political books—by much as the two subjects strive for the upper hand in their owner's mind. John Stuart Mill frowning upon Hansard, and Diderot glowering disdainfully at a row of blue books. At the end of the room is a cabinet whose drawers are marked with the letters of the alphabet, and in these are kept with the greatest system, ready for reference at a moment's notice, all Mr. Morley's papers. Over the chimney piece hangs a portrait of Mill, flanked on one side by a beautiful engraving of Dante after Giotto, and on the other by a fine photograph of Mr. Gladstone. A photograph of Lord Rosebery occupies another post of honour. Presently the door opens, and a slight well built man enters with a quick, active step, clad in an easy-fitting shooting coat. He looks little over forty; but it is Mr. Morley, and the registrar of births says he is nearly fifty. It is difficult to believe that he passes so much time indoors. His complexion is that of a man who is a great deal in the open air; fresh and hard, he looks as though he were entrancing, and his eye is as bright and clear as an athlete's. Most Londoners know the cleanshaved face, the well-cut nose, and the mobile, eloquent mouth. Not much chance either of turning a man from his purpose with a chin like that.

THE PRINCE OF WALES AS A DANCER.

MR. GROSSMITH has been telling some ball-room stories to an interviewer, in the course of whose account the following appears:—

Now, to fall to, Mr. Grossmith, tell me if you have ever seen the Prince of Wales dance?" "Often. Of course he dances the deux temps, which is more or less of a gallop, at a gallop, and that is the waltz of the 'smart set.'" "What do you mean by 'smart?'" "The best set—not necessarily lords and ladies—but call it, the Marlborough House set, and their imitators." "Then all ladies who are in that set, or who wish to dance with H.R.H., do the deux temps?" "Certainly." "Is it good form to reverse with these distinguished people?" "Never," replied Mr. Grossmith, with great emphasis. "Never" It is the worst form to reverse except in dancing the polka, which is a sort of 'go-as-you-please dance."

"The polka?" I exclaimed. "You astonish me. I always thought the polka was the most plebeian of dances." "It may be, but it is a great dance after supper in all the smartest circles. You should see them, as I have remarked after supper, going like mad, stamping and shouting and enjoying themselves to their hearts' content. They do let themselves go, I can tell you. And that is what constitutes one of the chief distinctions between the smart set and the upper middle class set, which thinks it bad form to let itself go, and never relaxes its rigidity and its frigidity for a moment.

STORIES FROM THE GRANDE CHARTEUSE.

A NATIVE of Grenoble, who has known the ancient monastery and its worthy inhabitants all his life, and has visited it en ouvrier, en artiste, and en touriste at all seasons of the year, gives an account, in a French contemporary, of some of the lore and legends clinging to its crumbling walls.

THE MONKS AS HOSPITABLE HOSTS.

It is always with a sense of fresh pleasure, says the writer of the article, that I knock at the hospital gate of the monks, behind which a brother makes a careful examination of the arrivals, in order to weed out lady-visitors, who are not admitted. And with what a formidable appetite, sharpened by a walk of six or seven hours, I sit down to table in one of the three large halls bearing the names of ancient French provinces, and into one of which the pere procureur—I believe that is what they call him—shows travellers according to their position, as far as the latter can be judged of by their dress and their manners.

THE JOYS OF VEGETARIANISM.

In all the three halls, at all the different tables, the food is exactly alike. It is the price only which varies, those who appear the wealthier among the visitors paying slightly more than the rest. As to the fare, it is always simple, but abundant, and deliciously prepared—that is to say, fish omelettes, vegetables, and butter are an advantageous change from the meat of the ordinary table d'hote. The butter especially good heavens, what butter it is! A veritable cream, innocent of the existence of such a thing as margarine. Then there is the inevitable little glass of yellow liqueur, which is first offered as an appetizer, and then again handed round as a dessert. Nobody complains of the fare, for at this place the liqueur is genuine, and not like it is on the terraces of certain large boulevard cafes.

THE STORY OF THE FAIR INTRUDER.

I have heard an eye-witness tell the story of a lady who entered the monastery, dressed in men's clothes, at the side of her lord and master. The fraud had been very successfully accomplished, and the fair intruder visited calmly the curiosities of the cloisters, which were explained by a lay brother. But habit becomes second nature, and nature is a terrible rebel! All at once the lady in the dress called out. "Pardon me, brother, but where has my husband gone?" The poor monk was at first quite stupefied at hearing a sweet voice come from behind the stiff, white collar, and looked terror-stricken upon the hypocritical overcoat and the fallacious trousers. Then some servants came up, carrying an old armchair, into which they put the intruder and carried her out of the monastery gate.

HOW A NOVELIST MAKES HIS NAME.

IN Tinsley's Magazine for February, Mr. William Tinsley gives some interesting recollections of his dealings in former years with various now-celebrated writers.

OUIDA AND THE "PALL MALL GAZETTE."

Of Ouida, Mr. Tinsley speaks as follows:—"Perhaps Lord Strangford's savage attack upon some of Ouida's earliest novels in the Pall Mall Gazette gave the lady more notoriety than she gained from any other notice, good or bad, of her work. The Pall Mall Gazette at that time was a great power in the Fourth Estate. There was hardly a good house, club, or institution in the three kingdoms where it was not seen and read; and the remarkable review of Ouida mentioned above, even though it was of the most scathing kind, brought her many thousands of readers at once. It is often wondered by readers of her novels how it is that she obtains such a masculine grasp of character, certainly exaggerated but with a substratum of truth. I am told that occasionally she used to invite young officers of the Guards and young gentlemen of a sporting tendency to dine with her and her mother. After dinner, when they lighted up their weeds and pipes, she would say, 'Now, gentlemen, suppose my mother and myself are out of the room. Seat yourselves; smoke and drink as if you were at the club; talk as if you were in the smoking-room there; never think about us.' And they did so. Let her readers judge as to whether this is likely to have been the case or not. All I know is that I have seen the menu of a dinner for a number of persons, and at the back of the car, in Ouida's bold handwriting, is written thus: 'On est prie d'attendre et de fumer.'"

MR. BLACK AND THE "SATURDAY REVIEW."

Of Mr. Black's early failures, and of the manner in which he ultimately found success, Mr. Tinsley says:—"I published William Black's first three-volume novel in March 1868, entitled 'Love or Marriage,' but it proved much too psychological for ordinary readers; consequently it failed to be anything like a success. However, I felt sure that Black was a very clever young man; and although I had lost money by 'Love or Marriage,' I agreed to publish for him another novel that he had ready for the press. The title, 'In Silk Attire,' was more taking, and the subject-matter more likely to please novel readers than that of the former book. I quickly got the new novel out, and it soon found many more readers than 'Love or Marriage,' His next novel, 'The Monarch of Mincing-lane,' did no good to the magazine, and was not by any means a great success in the three-volume form; so Black elected to bring out his next novel, 'The Maid of Kilmeney,' without his name on the title page. It was published by Messrs. Sampson, Low and Co. Black fancied he had enemies on the Press, and one on the Saturday Review especially; so, as he felt sure his new book was a good one, he was content to drop for the time any reputation he had made by his first books, and start afresh. The plan succeeded very well indeed. A friend of Black's reviewed the book in the Saturday Review; the Press was almost unanimous in saying that it was a delightful novel; the publishers advertised a fresh edition almost every week for several months; and if there had been anything like a large number of copies in each edition there would have been as many copies sold in three volumes of Black's fourth novel as there were of 'Lady Audley's Secret,' 'The Woman in White,' 'Adam Bede,' and 'Lothair,' altogether. However, the manœuvring by editors, reviewers, and publishers was remarkably well done; and when the novel was an assured success, Black was not long in letting the world know that he was the author of 'The Maid of Kilmeney.'"

THE AMERICAN GIRL.

MR. G. W. SMALLEY thus discourses in the New York Tribune of the burning social subject of the hour:—

"Why do the young Englishmen prefer the Americans?" Each has his own reason, good unto him, but the reason which underlies all the others is social, not personal. The relations between the sexes in youth are ten times more natural, genuine, and right in America than in England. Life does not begin with the English girl on her coming out. She is still in the nursery or the schoolroom, is still the bread and butter miss, still the nonentity, still the shy, silent, unformed creature she was. She is not sure of herself or of anybody else. She has no conversation, or none that does not require drawing out, and the young Englishman is not good at drawing out. She knows that she has been taken to market, and her sensations on entering society cannot be very different from those of the white slave on the auction-block in the East. She has been taught to be timid. Opinions, ideas, initiative of her own, the meeting on equal terms with youngsters in black coats and white ties, any kind of frank or friendly intercourse, any knowledge of the world or of life—all these things are to her anathema. She is what her mother and governess have made her; as her mother before her was made by her mother and governess. Her incapacities are hereditary; her notions are purely conventional; Mrs. Grundy is the deity who rules over her universe. She is monotonous, and men like variety. She is a chrysalis, and to a chrysalis even a butterfly is preferable. She is the raw material of a charming woman, and it is not every young Briton who feels himself competent to complete her education, or willing to let others complete it. He often hung back long before he heard of America. When he went there he found a girl who had everything the English girl had, and something best es. The American did meet him on even terms—as a rule much more than even—for she is as superior to the average young Englishman as to the average English girl. Her intelligence, quickness, freshness, animation, fulness of character, often her brilliancy, always her individuality, were perfectly novel to him, and perfectly delightful. Is it so wonderful that he liked her better than her doll-cousin in this damp island, and married her?

I once knew, or rather I still have the honour of knowing, an American girl who has become an English woman by marriage. She was good enough to talk over this question with me. She knew both sides of it, and both sides of the Atlantic perfectly. "The girls have the best of it at home," said she, "and the young married woman in England. The right thing to do is to be born in the States and marry here." I said: "You mean that the American girl has as much freedom as the English wife."

"So has the American wife, but that is not the point. With us in America, as you know, the girl gets all the attention from the men. In London Society the girl is nowhere, and the young wives are the attraction. Men will not be bored to talk to girls."

With her testimony may be compared that of a young English-woman, married, pretty, extremely clever, titled, and in the best set of the best society. The company had been discussing a new Anglo-American Union, and there were the usual wonderings what there was in these girls from beyond the sea that bewitched the best men who went over there. Lady Z. listened and reflected and said in her sunny way, "Well, the best of them do beat us."

These two stories together contain as much of the philosophy of the whole business as the journalist can be expected to supply. They are texts on which a long sermon might be preached—too long for to-day.

"But the American girls have the most money," growled the British Mother on one occasion. Sometimes they have, and when they have it is again the social system in which they live that bestows it on them. If English fathers persist in sacrificing their daughters to their s

LUMINOUS PHOSPHORUS.

Important to Invalids!

H. & T. KIRBY & CO.'S PREPARATIONS possess the vitalizing and energizing properties of this Drug in a state of great activity. The Phosphorus being retained in them unoxidised, it is quickly assimilated and, if taken daily with food, supplies the brain and spinal cord with its proper Pabulum.

In this form it is powerfully remedial, effecting cures in apparently hopeless cases, after all other medicines had failed, particularly in LOSS OF NERVE POWER, as manifested by INCAPACITY FOR WORK, WANT OF ENERGY, LOWNESS OF SPIRITS, NEURALGIA, MENTAL DEPRESSION, MELANCHOLIA, FEEBLE DIGESTION AND CIRCULATION, COLD EXTREMITIES, WEAK HEART, LOSS OF PHYSICAL VIGOUR, and NERVOUS DEBILITY. For these and all other conditions indicating defective nutrition or exhaustion of the nervous centres, whether arising from overwork, the effect of climate or excess, Medical authorities all agree that PHOSPHORUS is the most effectual remedy.

The following preparations, of which we are the ORIGINAL Makers, are thoroughly reliable. They may be obtained from our appointed Agents (see below), in Bottles, 3s., 5s. and 10s. each (English money), the 10s. Bottle containing sufficient for a course of three weeks. Two 10s. Bottles may be obtained direct from the makers' laboratory, carriage paid to any post town in India or Australia, by remitting Post Office Order for 21s.

SIMPLE PHOSPHORUS PILLS.
(Dr. KIRBY's Formula, No. 5), containing 1-25th gr. Phosphorus.
Dr. KIRBY says: "Experience fully warrants the administration of Phosphorus in this dose" in severe attacks of Neuralgia and cases of extreme Nervous Exhaustion; it gives excellent results, taken with food three or four times a day.

PHOSPHORUS AND QUININE PILLS.
(Dr. KIRBY's Formula, No. 3), containing 1-50th gr. Phosphorus.
This is a valuable combination of two powerful restoratives. As a nutrient tonic it gives power to the brain and spinal cord, imparts tone to the digestive organs, increases functional activity and improves the condition of the whole system. It is largely employed in India during convalescent stages of intermittent and remittent fevers. It is an excellent remedy for Malaise induced by the climate, and is a good prophylactic against Malaria.

PHOSPHORUS AND IRON PILLS.
(Dr. KIRBY's Formula, No. 7), containing 1-50th gr. Phosphorus.
This is given with great advantage in Anæmia, Sciatica, and other Neuralgic affections, also in the treatment of convalescence from fever and other debilitating diseases. It is an excellent chemical food for anæmic children, and a good adjuvant to a course of cod liver oil.

PHOSPHORUS AND NUX VOMICA PILLS.
(Dr. KIRBY's Formula No. 6), containing 1-33rd gr. Phosphorus.
This combination is useful in all the cases named above, but especially in cases of feeble digestion and loss of power, following excesses. Taken regularly with food for a few weeks it has a powerfully renovating effect on broken-down constitutions.

PHOSPHORUS, QUININE AND NUX VOMICA PILLS.
(Dr. KIRBY's Formula, No. 4), containing 1-50th gr. Phosphorus.
The use of this combination will be gathered from what has been said of the previous Formulæ, Nos. 3 and 6.
For a similar combination with Iron, see No. 9.

COMPOUND PHOSPHORUS PILLS.
(Dr. KIRBY's Formula, No. 9), containing 1-50th gr. Phosphorus, with Iron, Quinine and Strychnia.
This combination of nerve tonics has a very large application. It is efficacious in all disorders which are characterised by impoverished blood and diminished nerve power, especially in that low condition of the general health which is induced by overwork, dissipation, and excesses of various kinds. In this state iron and phosphorus is strongly indicated. In Constitutional Syphilis it has a high remedial power, by improving the condition of the blood and by stimulating its regenerative power. It is exceedingly energising and strength-giving. As a tonic for convalescence from fever and other exhausting diseases it is unequalled.

STRONG PHOSPHORUS, IRON, QUININE AND NUX VOMICA PILLS.
(Dr. KIRBY's Formula, No. 17), containing 1-24th gr. Phosphorus.
This is double the strength of No. 9 as regards Phosphorus and Quinine, and therefore should be prescribed only in cases where the larger dose of Phosphorus is needed.

PHOSPHORUS, CANTHARIDES & NUX VOMICA PILLS.
(Dr. KIRBY's Formula, No. 20), containing 1-33rd gr. Phosphorus.
This pill produces no irritation of the gastro-intestinal mucous membrane, but operates as a gentle stimulant to the genito-urinal organs. It is especially useful in premature failure of power, induced by passive discharges due to debility. It is useful also as a stimulating emmenagogue in obstinate cases of Amenorrhœa, Leucorrhœa, and Atony of the Uterus.
Formula No. 30 contains Iron, and as a tonic is most suitable for feeble, anæmic females.

For fuller particulars of other Combinations, Medical Men are invited to apply to the Agents for descriptive pamphlet, supplied free of charge.

CHASSAING'S
Bi-Digestive WINE
with Pepsine & Diastase
for
Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Vomiting, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Consumption, Gastralgia, Loss of Appetite, Constipation.

"This preparation of wine is founded upon sound chemical and physiological principles. While pepsine is the natural solvent or digestive for nitrogenous aliments, it has little or no effect upon the fecalent constituents which enter so largely into the composition of the food of man; and there is no doubt that some of the disorders of digestion arise from the normal assimilation of the starchy elements. Now the proper digestive for these is diastase; and in the bi-digestive wine, of M. Chassaing, these two most important principles, pepsine and diastase, are combined in suitable proportions."—See THE LANCET, July 27 th. 1872.

Manly Purity and Beauty

No tongue nor pen can do justice to the esteem in which the CUTICURA REMEDIES are held by the thousands upon thousands whose lives have been made happy by the cure of agonizing, humiliating, itching, scaly, and pimply diseases of the skin, scalp, and blood, with loss of hair.

CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, prepared from it, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally, cure every form of skin and blood disease, from pimples to scrofula.

Last winter I had erysipelas very bad in the neck and head. I was treated by my medical man for four months, but he failed to remove the disease. I was so low that I thought I was to die. I wrote to F. Newbery & Sons for "How to Cure Skin Diseases," and after using only one bottle of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, and dressing my skin with two boxes of CUTICURA, and washing with CUTICURA SOAP, I was well in a fortnight. Of course it was some time before I got strong, but I am now in robust health. There has not been a blotch on my skin since March, 1886.

ALEX. LAWSON, Gov't Poor House, Forfar.

Sold by all chemists. Price: CUTICURA, 50 cts.; RESOLVENT, $1; SOAP, 25 cts. Wholesale Agents, TREACHER & Co., Bombay, and SMITH, STANISTREET & Co., Calcutta. Prepared by the POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL Co., Boston, Massachusetts, U.S.A. Send to Messrs. TREACHER, or SMITH, STANISTREET & Co., for "How to Cure Skin Diseases," 64 pages, 50 illustrations, and 100 testimonials.

PIMPLES, blackheads, red, rough, chapped and oily skin prevented by CUTICURA SOAP.

For forty years I have been troubled with a white scaly, itching skin disease, said to be leprosy. It appeared on the fore part of my head when I was about eighteen years old, then in some parts of the body, but more so in my arms. Of late years it grew worse, and this year (1887) I said to my wife, "I must try and get relief." Both my arms from wrist to elbow were all white scales, and I scratched at night until the blood ran. I went to one of the chemists and asked him if he had anything that would cure that, showing him my arms. He said no doctor or physician could cure it. I said, "Have you heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES?" and he said, "Not until last week." I said, "I will try them." Now, gentlemen, two boxes of CUTICURA and one cake of CUTICURA SOAP were all I used. My arms are perfectly well, and I am amazed and delighted. So would any one be who had suffered for forty years as I had done.

JAS. WRIGHT, Woburn Sands, Co. of Bedford.

I have suffered fourteen years with Eczema and Psoriasis. My body and hands were covered with itching scales, and I constantly wore gloves. I spent over £1,000 for doctors and medicine, without cure or even relief. I began to despair, when I read of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which I procured, used them freely, and am entirely cured. They have saved my life, a fact well known to the leading merchants here. —ELIAS M. ISRAEL, Gibraltar. Cure indorsed by merchants and bankers of Gibraltar, and Messrs. F. Newbery & Sons, London.

HANDS Soft, white, and free from chaps and redness, by using CUTICURA SOAP.

Think, wilt thou let it slip useless away?"
—Tennyson.

QUEEN'S HEAD HOTEL, NEWCASTLE-UPON-TYNE, 4th June, 1877.

SIR,—Will you to-day allow me to present you with this Testimonial and Poem on your justly celebrated FRUIT SALT. Being the writer for several first class London Magazines, and my occupation being a very sedentary one, I came here for a few weeks, in order to see what change of air would do for me, and at the wish of some personal friends of mine I have taken ENO'S FRUIT SALT, and the good results accruing therefrom have been my reason for addressing you.—I am, Sir, yours truly, A LADY.

Free from danger, free from harm,
It acts like some magic charm;
At any time a dainty draught,
Which will dispel disease's shaft;
More priceless than the richest gold,
That ever did its wealth unfold;
And all throughout our native land,
Should always have at their command
Eno's famous Fruit Salt!

Cool and refreshing as the breeze,
To headache it gives certain ease;
Biliousness—it does assuage,
And cures it both in Youth and Age;
Giddiness it will arrest,
And give both confidence and rest;
Thirst it will at once allay,
And, what the best in every way,
Why, Eno's famous fruit Salt!

"MANY sick people looked upon me as a physician. For a long time we had been in the centre of Africa without any medical man. Natives came with all manner of diseases. One day we had a man said to be mad. Whether mad or not, he was far from well, and I gave him a dose of Eno's Fruit Salt. The poor fellow came back next morning much better. His breath was no longer offensive, and he looked cheerful. We were sorry when our supply of Fruit Salt was done; it was a favourite both with natives and Europeans, and is much used along the malarious coasts."—"Africana," by the Rev. DUFF MACDONALD, M.A., B.D., Vol. II., p. 207.

INDIA AND ENO'S FRUIT SALT.—"Ditrughar, Upper Assam, India, March 6th, 1880. "Dear Sir,—I desire to state the advantage which I, and many others in this part of the world, have derived from your FRUIT SALT. Unlike other saline Aperients, it is not lowering in its action. I have used it on board ship in tropical latitudes, and both there and here I can honestly bear witness that its use has warded off fever over and over again. When taken in time it is invaluable. It is most popular in this part of North Eastern Asiatic India. From my extreme individual inconvenience arising from publicity I do not wish my name to appear, and merely subscribe myself, most truly yours, 'A PLANTER.'—J. C. ENO."

CAUTION.—Examine each Bottle, and see that the capsule is marked "ENO'S FRUIT SALT." Without it you have been imposed on by a worthless imitation. Sold by all Chemists.

Prepared only at

ENO'S FRUIT SALT WORKS, HATCHAM, LONDON, S.E.

Dr. PROSSER JAMES,

Lecturer on Materia Medica, London Hospital.

"DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL contains the whole of the active ingredients of the remedy, and is easily digested. Hence its value, not only in Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, but in a great number of cases to which the Profession is extending its use."

Dr. HUNTER SEMPLE,

Physician to the Hospital for Diseases of the Throat and Chest, London.

"I have long been aware of the great reputation enjoyed by the LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL introduced into medical practice by DR. DE JONGH, and have recommended it with the utmost confidence. I have no hesitation in stating my opinion, that it possesses all the qualities of a good and efficient medicine. Its taste is by no means disagreeable, and might even be called pleasant. I have found DR. DE JONGH'S OIL very useful in cases of Chronic Cough, and especially in Laryngeal Disease complicated with Consumption."

Dr. SAUNDERS, C.B.,

Late Deputy-Inspector-General Army Hospitals, Superintendent London Medical Mission.

"I have used DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL extensively among the sick poor of St. Giles's, and consider it a valuable remedy, especially in the Wasting Diseases of Children."

Dr. WHITMORE,

Medical Officer of Health, St. Marylebone, London.

"My own somewhat lengthened experience as a Medical Practitioner enables me with confidence to recommend DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL as being more uniform in quality more certain in its effects, more palatable, and infinitely less likely to disagree with the stomach than the Pale Oil. If I were asked for an explanation of the marked success which for so many years has attended the administration of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL, I should say that it is owing to its extraordinary medicinal, dietetic, and reciminal properties, and which are found to exist in no other medicine that I am acquainted with, in such uniform combination

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL is supplied ONLY IMPERIAL Half-Pints, Pints and Quarts, sealed with BETTS' Patent Capsule impressed on the top with DR.
